Man Dies, 5 Others Escape When Plane Forced Down

Carl Brooks of Wembley suffered fatal injuries but five others in a CP Air Lines bush service plane escaped when the plane was involved in a mishap 120 miles southwest of Grande Prairie last Friday afternoon.

According to available information a Barkley-Growe pontoon-equipped plane left Cooking Lake base to pick up a party of five hunters in the Porcupine Lake district southwest of Grande Prairie.

Bill Cormack of Edmonton was the pilot.

After taking the hunters aboard, the machine started the return trip but bad weather or other difficulties caused a forced landing in the muskeg country.

In the landing Brooks apparently suffered injuries that proved fatal.

He died six hours after the accident.

Pilot Cormack walked five miles to a camp where he obtained a horse and an Indian guide and the pair made their way to Pipestone Creek, where they flashed word of the accident three days later.

The body of Brooks, and the Third Day

Edmonton Lags Behind Calgary In Loan Drive

Calgary went further ahead of Edmonton in the Ninth Victory Loan campaign race during the third day of the campaign with sales of $1,201,500 for 16 per cent of the $7,700,000 quota compared with $973,250 of sales in Edmonton for 13 per cent of the same quota, it was announced at loan headquarters Thursday.

Lethbridge was leading all Alberta cities with sales of just under the million dollar mark for 49 per cent of quota, with Red Deer in second place with sales of $229,250 for 43 per cent.

At the close of business Wednesday, 15,424 subscribers throughout Alberta had purchased $8,742,500 of bonds compared with 31,151 purchasers in the Eighth loan when the total at the end of the third day stood at $12,039,400 for 25.5 per cent of the quota in the Eighth loan. The quota achieved in the Ninth loan at the end of the third day was 17.1 per cent.

Sales in Edmonton on the third day of this loan amounted to $344,

Toronto Gangster Gets 15-Year Term

TORONTO, Oct. 25.—(CP)—Donald (Mickey) MacDonald, 38, convicted on a recital of charges of armed robbery and kidnapping, was sentenced today to 15 years in penitentiary. He received the same sentence at the original trial nearly a year ago.

The new sentence was consecutive to a 2½-year term MacDonald was serving for aggravated assault on an 84-year-old Toronto hotel doorman.

Today's sentence involved a charge of armed robbery of a $35,000 liquor shipment Dec. 13, 1945, and the kidnapping of George Butcher, truck driver for Western Freight Lines. It followed a successful appeal by Macdonald on the original conviction.

Besides Macdonald, four other Toronto men were convicted at the first trial and sentenced to terms ranging from two to 15 years. They included Macdonald's younger, Edwin.

Third Division Leaves Holland Starting Oct. 30

AMSTERDAM, Oct. 25 (CP)—The 3rd Canadian Infantry Division, Canada's representatives in the D-Day assault on fortress Europe who later earned the nickname of "water rats" in Holland, start their journey home Oct. 30

Movement orders have been issued for the trip from Holland to the United Kingdom for half of the formation by Nov. 15. A daily flow of 600 men through Nijmegen will see 465 officers and 8,456 other ranks leave during the first two weeks of November. About 4,570 will be left for later movement.

Drastic Situation Caused by Jobless Windsor Veterans

WINDSOR, Ont., Oct. 25.—(CP)—Civic and government officials met today to discuss an unemployment situation which they said has caused 5,000 unplaced war veterans to roam Windsor streets in search of jobs.

The officials, meeting in offices of Hugh C. Stratton of national selective service, decided to ask Ottawa for a solution to the problem they termed "desperate."

Renew Attempt End Dock Strike

LONDON, Oct. 25.—(CP)—Union leaders today renewed their efforts to end the strike of 41,000 British dockers, who rebelled against previous back-to-work pleas and left Britain's ports clogged with unloaded ships.

The leaders called mass meetings of the strikers in London and Birkenhead. To date there has been no sign in a break in the deadlock, which centres around the dockers' demand for a pay boost of $2.20 a day.

Sixty-five ships await unloading in London. More than 5,000 troops are at work discharging cargoes of 35 ships and loading another 14.

Fighten Pickets At Ford Factory

WINDSOR, Ont., Oct. 25.—(CP)—Pickets around the strikebound Ford Motor Company plants here were tightened last night after officials of the United Automobile Workers of America (CIO) decided unanimously at a policy meeting that watchmen allowed to enter the plants "were engaged in work formerly done by men now in the picket line." A union statement charged that watchmen, after being permitted through the picket lines, went to work as mechanics.

Heavy Response

Three-Day Bond Total Reaches $232,274,650

OTTAWA, Oct. 25.—(CP)—Canadians signed their name to victory for $69,613,800 Wednesday to boost the three-day total for Canada's ninth and biggest Victory Loan to $232,274,650, approximately $29,000,000 ahead of the total at the same point in the eighth loan drive last spring, the National War Finance Committee announced today.

Wednesday's sales compared with $60,328,150 on the third day of the last drive and the three-day aggregate compared with $203,179,900 at that point last spring.

There was continued heavy response in the three-week campaign for a minimum of $1,500,000,000 and in the British Columbia-Yukon area all branches of the services went over the top.

The Navy led there with 171 per cent, the Army had 134 per cent and the Air Force 104 per cent. The combined public and armed forces total reached $16,508,200 or 25 per cent for the far-west area.

Five seasoned troop shows go into action during the next few days in support of the victory loan in military hospitals, repatriation centres and armories.

An Editorial

Why Labor Is Restless

Labor unrest is general all across Canada. This unrest is understandable because it is caused primarily by unjust and unreasonable taxation and by the lack of modern low rental housing. There are other factors, of course. But these two are the heaviest contributing factors.

The Wartime Prices and Trade Board has rendered excellent service to Canada during the war years, but to retain the freezing of wages and salaries in the low income group, now that the war is over, is inflicting unnecessary hardship upon the Canadian people.

It is manifestly ridiculous to impose an income tax, under these or any other circumstances, upon annual wages under $1,000 for a single person and under $2,000 for a married man. The Hon. Mr. Ilsley can offer no sound basis for such iniquitous taxation in a $4,000,000,000 budget.

The economic fallacy of such taxation is shown up clearly in reduced production and particularly the production which depends upon overtime hours of work. Few employees care to carry on their labors beyond their regular hours if the proceeds of that extra work is largely taken away in taxes, leaving little for themselves.

This refusal to recognize the true status of production in the national economy is contributing to the irritation of labor. For every worker knows that production is the only real wealth—not money which is not wealth at all but simply a medium of exchange. Without production, money is worthless as it is today in most countries of Europe and Asia where cigarettes are used instead of paper money as a means of exchange.

Eighty per cent of all employed persons in Canada receive less than $2,150 net annual income and the majority require modern low rental housing at rentals from $18 per month to not more than $25 per month. Only one family in five in all Canada can qualify for loans under the National Housing Act.

The much-advertised plan of Mr. Ilsley's to guarantee the life insurance companies in taking on low rental housing is doomed to failure before it starts because monthly rentals under this plan range from $28 per unit and up.

Only a huge subsidized modern low rental (and purchase) plan can solve the acute housing shortage for eighty per cent of Canadians.

Without this and without adequate taxation relief, we can expect labor to continue to be restless.

THINK IT OVER!

To Contest Seats

Two Candidates' Qualifications Are Satisfactory

Two Civic Democratic Alliance candidates for public school board, Douglas Milner and J. W. Badowsky, stated by civic officials Tuesday to be without the necessary property qualifications to contest the municipal election on Nov. 7 next, have satisfied officials that they have these qualifications and have been informed that the necessary certificate will be forthcoming to permit them to be nominated as candidates.

Mr. Milner presented a certificate of title to his property showing a transfer value of $800, while Mr. Badowsky's transfer of title showed the value of his property at $700. The assessed value of these properties is shown at $400 and $385.

REFERRED TO SOLICITOR

The matter was referred to T. E. Garside, KC, city solicitor, who ruled that the values disclosed on the transfers of title is the factor governing the property qualification and the issuance of title, and that both Mr. Milner and Mr. Badowsky are entitled to contest the election.

The other candidate, William Fletcher, also a Civic Democratic Alliance candidate, does not possess the necessary qualifications, according to the officials, but executive officers of the Alliance are still studying his case.

In the meantime plans have been made by the Alliance to hold a further nominating convention on Friday at which an additional South Side candidate will be named and vacancies on the public school board slate will be filled.

Rain and Snow Slows Polling In B.C. Election

VANCOUVER, Oct. 25.—(CP)—Steady rain in both Vancouver and Victoria kept polling slow in the early hours in those two major cities of British Columbia today as the province's voters marked ballots to choose a new legislature.

Polls opened at 9:00 a.m., MST, and close at 11:00 p.m. MST.

A soaking downpour that fell all night at Vancouver continued in the forenoon. At one poll where 15 were present at the opening for the June 11 Dominion elections voting, there were only three on hand this morning.

Passenger Cars In Reserve Pool Are All Released

OTTAWA, Oct. 25.—(CP)—Munitions Minister Howe disclosed today that all passenger cars in a reserve pool established by the government early in 1942 now have been released.

With the exhaustion of this pool users now will have to wait for new production. Mr. Howe has already indicated that first cars off production lines will go to priority users.

When production of passenger cars was halted in 1942 the pool of 4,500 cars was built up to assure a supply to such essential users as doctors and police.

City and Province Continue Fight for Needed Materials

There is no question of abandoning the city-provincial veterans' University and Bonny Doon housing projects," it was emphatically stated Thursday by city and provincial government officials. When completed the two projects will contain 238 suites on the South Side and 162 on the north.

The assurance was authorized by Commissioner R. J. Gibb, Edmonton city commissioner, and George A. Clash, director of purchases for the Alberta government, after a conference in the office of the deputy minister of trade and industry, W. D. King, at which O. O. Davis, Alberta representative of the war assets corporation, and the city commissioner and director of purchases were present.

Delays were occasioned, officials said, by shortages of materials but it was emphasized that efforts will continue to be made to obtain supplies through the war assets corporation.

TO ISSUE PRIORITIES

Commissioner Gibb has received a telegram from Ottawa to the effect that the Dominion government will issue priorities on timber and that the local representative of the timber controller will be notified to give every possible assistance.

Meanwhile, the contractors, Poole Construction Company, has notified Commissioner Gibb of shortages in fir flooring, cedar siding, gypsum dry wall board, electric wiring, some plumbing fixtures and certain mill work including storm and combination doors, sashes, etc., and that two carloads of trim were urgently needed.

Mr. Clash stated that plumbing fixtures sufficient to equip partially 28 more bathrooms were re-

Sever Relations

Japan's Last Outside Link Cut by Allies

From CP, AP and British UP Dispatches

HEADQUARTERS ARMY OF OCCUPATION, TOKYO, Oct. 25.—Acting on imperative orders from Washington from the Joint Chiefs of Staff committee, Gen. Douglas MacArthur today cut the Japanese government's last link with the outside world.

The order, issued "by direction of the allied powers," told the Japanese government to sever relations with all foreign governments, to recall home "immediately" all its diplomatic and consular representatives in foreign countries and to turn over its diplomatic properties and papers throughout the world to the Allied powers. All but routine contact with foreign governments must cease.

Purpose of the order, other than the apparent one of revealing to the Allies all Japan's diplomatic and consular secrets, was not disclosed.

RUSSIA CRITICAL

In its sweeping implications the order was comparable to one issued a few days ago, in which all re-

Railways May Seek Increase in Rates

OTTAWA, Oct. 25.—(CP)—Canadian railways will have to seek increased rates if the point is reached where they are unable to meet expenses, H. C. Vaughan, president of the Canadian National Railways, said yesterday at a meeting of the Canadian Railway committee. He told the committee that point has not yet been reached.

The committee approved the 1945 CNR budget and the 1944 report and 1945 budget for the Canadian National (West Indies) Steamships, Ltd.

"The railways have not applied for rate increases or prepared a case," Mr. Vaughan told the committee. "We considered it was not in the interests of the national economy to apply as long as we could pay our way. If we cannot pay our way there should certainly be an adjustment."

Only Single Studio Now Strike-Bound

HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 25.—(AP)—The movie strike, which has kept this film capital in a turmoil for 33 weeks ended for all the industry except Warner Brothers today.

Approximately 400 pickets appeared as usual at Warners' Burbank studio and Herbert K. Sorrell, leader of the jurisdictional strike, gave this explanation for the continuance of the walkout at this plant:

"Warner Brothers wants to be classed with the other producers. But we are not classing them with the others because they used tear gas and water. We are asking Warners to indemnify every person hurt on this picket line.

"Approximately 300 persons will have claims—three or four who were seriously hurt for as much as $500 each. Warner Brothers is going to pay for this. They can afford it."

Most of the 7,000 Conference of Studio Unions (AF of L) strikers who have been off their jobs since March 12 are expected to be back at work at other studios by Monday, at the latest.

Storm of Protest Breaks Following Officers' Address

TORONTO, Oct. 25.—(CP)—A Canadian major-general made a speech—an unusual one—in Washington, and was the target yesterday of critical comment from a number of leading figures in Canadian religious and educational life.

Maj.-Gen. Brock Chisholm, delivering the annual lecture of the William Alanson White psychiatric foundation Tuesday night, was quoted as saying that morality—the concept of right and wrong—was an underlying cause of wars and human unhappiness.

"For many generations we have bowed our necks to the yoke of the conviction of sin," said the 49-year-old general, Toronto psychiatrist before the war and member of a prominent Oakville, Ont., family.

Edmonton School Teachers Attend Two-Day Convention

About 550 Edmonton school teachers registered for the opening session of the twentieth annual convention of city teachers Thursday morning in the Garneau school. The three sections, elementary, intermediate and high school, met together in the auditorium to hear John Burke, president of the organization, give his address.

This was followed by greetings extended to the delegates by R. S. Sheppard, superintendent of Edmonton Public schools, and A. A. Cribbin, superintendent of Edmonton Separate schools. In the afternoon the sections held separate sessions to discuss subjects pertinent to the grades included in each particular section.

Highlight of the two-day convention will be Thursday night when the delegates gather in the Macdonald hotel for their annual banquet. The guest speaker at the affair will be Iris C. Dilworth.

GENERAL SESSION

At the general session Thursday morning two speakers addressed the delegates. G. F. Pence, president of the Alberta Federation of Home and School Associations, spoke on the subject, "The Home and School and the Community", and Miss Ethel Coppinger, president of the Saskatchewan Teachers' Federation and vice-president of the Canadian Teachers' Federation, brought greetings from the two organizations.

Miss Coppinger outlined the situation regarding teachers in Saskatoon and promised a favorable envy in the Edmonton group when she told them teachers in that city get twelve months leave every two years, for which they are paid 60 per cent of their pay.

She said the Saskatchewan Federation has taken a strong stand on the question of a ceiling on teachers' wages and said that while a floor was desirable it was felt there shouldn't be an uncompromising ceiling.

OUTLINES PROGRESS

Speaking on the Home and School Association, Mrs. Bruce outlined the strides which have been made through the co-operation of parents, teachers and school boards, leading to a mutual understanding of problems and "he said the associations are working more and more in co-operation with their boards.

Mr. Sheppard, in greeting the delegates, told them that teachers had a great responsibility and possibilities for helping to establish permanent world peace through the proper education of the youth of the country.

He reviewed the school board's expansion plans which 'he said would alleviate the over-crowding in many city schools.

JOIN ARMED FORCES

The superintendent noted that 55 teachers from the Edmonton Public schools had enlisted in the armed forces. Of this number 13 have returned to their teaching duties while others on leave for further study and some have not yet been discharged.

Thursday afternoon the elementary and intermediate sections devoted their time to discussions of art, drama and arithmetic. The speakers were Miss A. MacDonald, R. W. Hedley, Dr. M. E. Lazerte, J. Spillios, O. Joyce, Miss G. Studholme, Miss D. Sheppard.

The High school teachers held a general session to hear W. D. MacDougall speaking on the question "How May We Implement Our Democratic Program?" The address was followed by an open discussion.

Cut Jap Links

cords of Japan's banking and industrial concerns were ordered delivered to occupation authorities.

The directive followed close upon criticisms from Moscow to the effect that with the demobilization of Japan's armed forces, the occupation policies in the conquered country should be directed by a four-power control commission instead of by Gen. MacArthur.

The action at one fell swoop shut the eyes and ears of Japan abroad. It well might forestall any concerted plotting by Japanese and Nazi diplomats still at large in such neutral countries as Spain and Portugal.

ARCHIVES MAY HELP

Seized archives in foreign capitals may yield important information bearing on Japan's connivance for Pacific conquest and possibly new evidence against Japanese war criminals.

MacArthur's directive ordered the government to turn over the routine function of protecting Japanese nationals in neutral countries to Sweden or Switzerland, who already act similarly for Japan in Allied nations.

The directive, perhaps significantly, followed by less than 48 hours a prolonged conference between MacArthur and Assistant U.S. Secretary of War John J. McCloy. McCloy's long-distance telephone conversation with Washington early yesterday also may have dealt with the directive.

Reliable sources said former premier Prince Fumimaro Konoye intended to renounce his princehood and all other court ranks in acknowledgement of his responsibility for the path Japan followed to disaster.

ADMITS BLAME

They reported that Konoye informed Marquis Koichi Kido, Lord Keeper of the Privy Seal, yesterday that he held himself responsible for the course of events following the outbreak of the Chinese-Japanese war.

At present he is adviser to Kido and, as such, is working to revise the Japanese constitution to make it more democratic. Konoye agreed to a suggestion from Kido that denunciation of his court ranks until after he had finished work on the constitution, probably in mid-November.

Informed Japanese believe Konoye intends to continue in politics as a private citizen. He is said to hope that his action would set an example for other elder statesmen and nobles.

The action might indicate that Konoye has determined to accept Gen. MacArthur's suggestion, which was presented last Sunday, that the three time premier head the liberal political movement in Japan. Konoye said in reporting the suggestion that he was undecided what he would do.

Kidneys Acids Rob Your Rest

Many people never seem to get a good night's rest. They turn and toss—be awake and count sheep. Often they blame it on "nerves" when it may be their kidneys. Healthy kidneys filter poisons from the blood. If they are faulty and fail, poisons stay in the system and sleeplessness, headache, backache often follow. If you don't sleep well, try Doan's Kidney Pills. For half a century the favorite remedy. 123

There are 86 clubs in Canada and United States, 44 of which are Canadian.

our parents, our Sunday and day school teachers, our politicians, our priests, our newspapers and others with a vested interest in controlling us."

He called for a type of education to eradicate the concept and substitute "intelligent and rational thinking."

"CANDID STATEMENT"

Rabbi Abrahmam Feinberg of Toronto Holy Blossom Temple, who was perhaps the most critical but he tempered his criticism with an admission "such frank and candid statements as these do help to clear a thorough and effective study of our civilization."

The rabbi said the speech "sounds very much like an eloquent, streamlined 1945 version of the Nietzschean point of view which was the bases of the Nazi philosophy."

"Following the Nietzche's idea of the superman who was beyond good and evil, the Nazis attempted to create a race of supermen which would be too powerful, too arrogant, and too resentful to be bothered about morality. The end result was the horror of the concentration camps at Buchenwald and Belsen.

Archbishop Owen said of the lecture that "when I hear statements like those . . . I think of the internment camps and other atrocities of which human nature is guilty from time to time."

Gen. Chisholm's outline, he said, "does not come anywhere near my conception of morality."

Rev. T. P. McLaughlin, superior of St. Michael's College here, said he could find no basis of agreement with the general who was "dealing with the greatest problem of all, and one which requires much study."

Gen. Chisholm, appointed deputy minister a year ago, formerly was director general of medical services for the Canadian Army. He instituted use of the pulhems system in the examination of recruits.

Back in February of 1944 Gen. Chisholm told a Toronto service club luncheon that children at home on week-end leaves frequently had weeks of training undone by their families and that the influence of mothers on Canadian soldiers has to be weakened."

A few days later in the House of Commons a statement by the general was read in which he said in effect, he meant no slur on the women of Canada generally.

Lew Ayres Returns

Once Shunned by Public Ex-Actor Welcomed Home

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 25.—(AP)—Sgt. Lew Ayres, former film star shunned by the public when he refused to bear arms as a conscientious objector, is back home today—a soldier praised by his buddies as "a good guy."

Yellowed from atabrine and looking older than his 36 years, Sgt. Ayres said he was uncertain about his future.

"Just now I have the bewildered look and feelings of any soldier coming back through the Golden Gate," he grinned.

Typical of the change in public feeling toward Ayres was his reception here yesterday when he walked down the gangplank of the troop transport after 22 months' service in the Southwest Pacific.

CROWD FRIENDLY

It was a friendly and curious crowd that applauded him a little more loudly than it did the other 1,736 men who debarked from the ship.

Sgt. Ayres said he is not as ready to enter the ministry as reports from overseas had indicated: "I want to do something more directly."

Sgt. Ayres incurred public disfavor when he listed himself in the early days of the war as a "conchie."

He was sent to a camp at Wyeth, Ore., but later joined the armed forces as non-combatant. He served as a medical corpsman and chaplain's assistant.

A CP Air Lines plane from Prince George, piloted by Russell Roper, also participated in the search for the hunting party.

Airlines officials in Edmonton state they had felt no concern over the plane and party at first because the weather in the north had been bad and it was assumed that the machine was remaining grounded.

Brooks was serving as guide for the party of American hunters, which included: Charles Summers, Clarence Clement, Harold Sholtz, Blue Springs, Miss., and Harry Dugdale, St. Joseph, Miss.

Mechanic Douglas Ireland and William Henry, Kansas City, received minor injuries.

and telephone connections with the coast area. Two feet of snow fell between Midway and Penticton in the Okanagan district.

The snow storms were still raging late in the afternoon indicating the voting would be light and compilation of returns might be delayed considerably.

New Westminster, near Vancouver, reported steady rain and a light vote.

The Coalition administration of Premier John Hart, formed after the last provincial election when neither the Liberal nor Conservatives were able to form a government, is seeking endorsation on its past record, with the CCF, under M. J. Coldwell, and Harold Winch, as the major opposition.

147 CANDIDATES

There are 147 candidates in the field for the 48 seats. Voting takes place in the Vancouver district only. Two other provincial elections were held elsewhere on Wednesday.

Actual votes to be cast are expected to run over 500,000, since electors in Vancouver and Victoria, where three members seek seats, have more than one vote. A total of 476,819 persons are registered. On top of this an estimated 50,000 unregistered service personnel are expected to cast ballots.

In the last provincial general election in 1941 some 360,961 citizens cast 458,690 ballots on a registered list of 417,839.

VOTE COUNTING

Tallying of all civilian votes takes place immediately after polls close. Ballots of service personnel who registered by Sept. 17, the deadline, will be announced Friday or Saturday. Other service votes will be announced about Nov. 15, after officials have checked all the ballots.

At dissolution last Aug. 31, 30 members supported the Coalition administration, 18 having been elected as Liberals, 11 as Conservatives and one as a straight Coalition. In opposition were 15 CCF members, one Liberal and one Labor. One seat was vacant.

Contesting for the 48 seats today are 47 Coalitionists; 48 CCF nominees; 21 Labor-Progressive; 16 Social Credit and 15 others. There are 13 women, five of whom are seeking re-election.

Channel Shipping Cancelled in Wake Of Heavy Storms

LONDON, Oct. 25.—(BUP)—Heavy seas forced cancellation of most cross-channel shipping between England and the continent today for the third straight day, but destructive gales generally were subsiding.

The centre of the storm has moved north and west across the North Sea with gradually lessening intensity. Gales and torrential rains caused three deaths and untold property damage in southern England during the past two days.

leased late Wednesday night and that Mr. Davis is at the moment endeavoring to effect release of more."

Ottawa officials interviewed by Hon. D. B. MacMillan, minister of agriculture, on his recent visit there, informed him these materials had not been released to war assets corporation because Army and Air Force were not prepared to state they had no further use for them.

DELAY UNTIL SPRING

Mr. MacMillan said he was told materials at Wetaskiwin might not be ready for release until spring and that it was possible releases might be further delayed at training centres at Penhold, Bowden, Calgary, Lethbridge, Medicine Hat, Claresholm, Macleod, Vulcan, Shepard and Suffield.

In the meantime, work on the conversion of huts and a hospital building at the Exhibition Grounds was proceeding rapidly Thursday as difficulties regarding electric wiring and other materials were being ironed out, Arthur Arnold, National Housing Act representative here, stated Thursday.

COMPLETE WIRING

He said that the wiring has been completed in two of the huts and was nearing completion in a third. He said that the huts and hospital will probably be ready for occupancy within 21 to 30 days.

Maxwell C. Dewar, city architect, stated that there is sufficient wiring on hand from the Dawson Creek salvage to complete 60 of the suites being erected by the city on the Parkdale south and Bonnie Doon suites.

He said that priorities granted for building materials such as plumbing fittings and plaster board would be of real assistance, but there was also a short supply of electrical wiring, heaters, linoleum flooring, siding, and interior finishing materials. He said that assistance is being sought by the city in obtaining these materials.

Priorities for supplies of plumbing fittings and plaster board have been given the City of Edmonton in connection with the Dawson Creek municipal-provincial housing scheme, it was announced Thursday by R. J. Gibb, city commissioner.

He announced also that instructions had been issued by Ottawa authorities to the local housing controller to give all possible assistance to the housing project.

Wednesday afternoon civic, provincial and War Assets Corporation executives met to discuss ways and means of making surplus material available for this project.

Legion Demands Action in Care Of Tb. Patients

Conditions prevailing in an Edmonton hospital where tuberculosis war veterans are being treated may be brought up on the floor of the House of Commons unless there is an immediate improvement at the hospital, Canadian Legion officials stated Thursday.

A letter has been sent to Hon. Ian Mackenzie minister of veterans affairs by Edmonton Legion Branch No. 24 in which immediate action to improve the hospitalization of TB veterans is sought, coupled with the assertion that the matter will be brought before the House of Commons by a western member if relief does not follow.

CONDITIONS PROBED

The latest communication to Ottawa follows an inquiry conducted by a Canadian Legion Provincial command committee into conditions prevailing in the TB wards at the General hospital here.

The committee, investigating charges of improper care, had reported that conditions in the hospital were unfavorable to the proper treatment of tubercular cases.

This report had been forwarded to the department of veterans affairs at Ottawa with the request for steps to alleviate the situation. Ottawa replied it was well satisfied that all veterans were receiving "skilled and adequate care."

To Study Pensions

Government Planning Inquiry Into Treatment of Indians

By D'ARCY O'DONNELL

OTTAWA, Oct. 25.—(CP)—A Royal Commission or a committee of the House of Commons will be established to study the treatment of Indians in Canada and will consider such questions as the advisability of paying old age pension to Indians, Resources Minister Glen told the Commons yesterday.

Mr. Glen said it was hoped a revision of the Indian Affairs Act would be made next session, but the government had not yet decided whether whether a Royal Commission or a house committee would be set up to review the treatment of Indians and suggest what changes should be made.

He spoke on a resolution, sponsored by Lt. Col. D. S. Harkness (PC, Calgary East), urging that the government consider the payment of old age pensions to Indians. Support for the resolution came from all parties in the house and from representatives of various parts of the country.

PLAN REVISION

Mr. Glen said he wished the resolution had not been in the form of an order to the house because of the fact that revision of the Indian Act was planned at the next session and ample opportunity would be given to discuss such questions as pensions.

At the opening of the house, Justice Minister St. Laurent, acting secretary of state for external affairs, announced that responsibility for maintaining the Alaska Highway will pass from the United States army which built it to the Canadian army next April 1. The RCAF will assume responsibility of the Northwest Staging Route June 1.

Mr. St. Laurent also announced that Lt.-Gen. Maurice Pope, military adviser to Prime Minister Mackenzie King, had been appointed head of a Canadian mission to Berlin.

APPOINTMENT DIFFICULT

Mr. Glen said the appointment of a Royal Commission to investigate Indian affairs represented difficulties due to the fact that membership of such a commission would have to be acceptable to the government, the Indians and the religious denominations engaged in missionary efforts on Indian reserves and in the operation of Indian schools.

The possibility of appointing such commission was being explored and a recommendation would be made to the cabinet in due course, if a house committee was set up, every Indian organization would be given a hearing.

The government's rehabilitation program, now under review, contained provisions for an appropriation exceeding $12,000,000. This money when voted by parliament would be used for the construction of Indian hospitals, improved and up-to-date Indian day schools, nursing stations, buildings for the storage of relief and medical supplies, and administration buildings necessary for housing members of the government field station.

Included in the sum was $2,500,000 for the construction and repair of Indian homes.

PAY IN GOODS

Mr. Glen said that the payment of monthly pensions to Indians would present the same administrative difficulties as the payment of family allowances. Cash was not much use to Indians in the North West Territories or the Yukon. In the case of family allowances the Indians in those parts were paid in goods.

He said the average monthly payment for aged unemployed and incapacitated Indians amount to about $14.50. This was the cost of food, clothing, medical supplies and other articles provided.

As far as was humanly possible no Indian would be allowed to suffer for lack of food or clothing or other needs.

Rev. J. H. Matthews (CCF, Kootenay West), for many years a missionary among the West Coast Indians, said no one in Canada had a greater need in old age—a need that should be satisfied by the government—than Indians in the Dominion.

Luck Ran Out

TORONTO, Oct. 25.—(CP)—Unlucky 13 caught up with William Merrit, 45, no given address, yesterday. Police arrested him after he attempted—allegedly for the thirteenth time—to cash a fraudulent $100 order at a downtown post office.

Senior Govts. Must Pay More For Services

Assumption by the senior governments of a greater share of the costs of social services is necessary if community services are to be increased, Ald. Winslow Hamilton, Citizens' Committee candidate for the mayoralty, told members of the Edmonton Business and Professional Women's Club at a meeting held Wednesday night at the Labor Hall. About 40 members of the club attended.

He said that of the $5,000,000 received on general account by the city approximately 40 per cent goes on social services such as education, health, hospitals, library, mothers' allowances, penalons, indigent relief and general welfare activities.

Ten per cent of the amount was expended on police and fire protection, and 25 per cent for debt reduction and interest charges. A further nine per cent was spent on general government and miscellaneous services, leaving only 16 per cent for public works.

MANY OUTLETS

That 16 per cent represents about $750,000, Ald. Hamilton stated, and this amount must provide street lighting, street maintenance and construction, sidewalk maintenance and construction, boulevards and lanes, street cleaning and sprinkling, snow and ice removal, dust abatement, bridges, sewers and drainage, scavenging, parks, cemeteries, swimming pools, golf course, playgrounds and weed destruction.

"No wonder our streets are a disgrace when the city engineer is given only $750,000 to provide this multiplicity with services," Ald. Hamilton stated.

He said that the encouragement of home building and the encouragement of industry preclude any serious increase in taxes, and people generally agree that utility operation should not be further burdened for the same reasons. Borrowing, he added, postpones the issue of where the money for increasing community services comes from.

He said that community services can only be expanded through the assumption by the senior governments of a greater share of the social service burden. He said that the city council, in facing up to that situation, and in driving home the urgency of the case to the senior governments in a straightforward manner, can do much to help our future.

CAN USE RESERVES

"In the meantime we are fortunate in having built up reserves during the last few years, partly because of buoyant revenues and partly out of the reservation of normal peacetime expenditures during war years. These moneys, including utility reserves, will furnish us with about six millions for urgent public works and utility expansion over the next five years. This money must be wisely spent if we are to devote it where it will do the most good," Ald. Hamilton stated.

"Among those projects is one in which your organization is no doubt particularly interested and that is a downtown auditorium. If my assumption is correct I am sure council would appreciate your views and suggestions."

Closing his address Ald. Hamilton said: "The views I express on council and off it are my views conceived in my own mind and based on my own appreciation of the circumstances involved. I have never in the past received any orders from any particular group and I have never made any reports to any particular group. I don't propose to take any orders from any particular group or to make any direct reports to any particular group, to the Citizens' Committee, to the Chamber of Commerce, to the Labor Progressive Party or any other specific group of citizens. My duty is to Edmonton."

It's every citizen's privilege to support any candidate at election time—but once elected that person becomes everyone's representative, responsible to everyone whether they supported him or not, and is entitled to everyone's support.

JUVENILE PROBLEM

Mrs. I. Kiniski, Independent candidate for alderman, said that no cause in any city can be put up unless its women work for it. She added that she was concerned with the growth of juvenile delinquency and was seeking election to the city council to endeavor to institute preventive measures. "A woman who has reared a family is best equipped to deal with these matters, Mrs. Kiniski stated.

Only other candidate to address the meeting was John A. Munro, Citizens' Committee, who said he was making his first appearance in any municipal campaign. He told his audience that he had been born in Edmonton, was educated here, and was now one of the city's young business men. He added he was deeply interested in the city's affairs as he had a young family who would receive their education here, and later would be seeking their livelihood in the city.

He said the greatest problem facing Edmonton at present was that of housing, and it would be the duty of those elected to council to see that everything possible was done to further the building of not houses alone, but homes that citizens can take pride in.

McKenney On Bridge

By WILLIAM E. McKENNEY
America's Card Authority

The majority of better players do not believe in indiscriminate use of the Blackwood four-five no-trump convention, but they employ this bid when they are quite obviously seeking information on aces and kings. Today's hand was taken from the national women's pair championship, which was won by Mrs. Benjamin M. Golder and Mrs. Olive Peterson of Philadelphia. When Mrs. Golder jumped the bid to three spades, the suit was set. Mrs. Peterson did not waste time bidding hearts. Her bid of four no-trump asked for information regarding the ace of diamonds.

When South bid five diamonds showing one ace, which obviously must be the ace of diamonds. Mrs. Peterson bid five no-trump for information as to the number of kings. Mrs. Golder's response of six spades showed three kings, and Mrs. Peterson then felt justified in going to seven no-trump.

Even though the spade suit broke, it looked as though declarer would have to lose a heart, but when she cashed all her spades and the three top diamonds. East could not protect the high club and the heart queen.

Ontario School Has Classrooms In Local Jail

MATTAWA, Ont., Oct. 25.—(CP)—Mattawa high school students, whose classrooms are in the local jail, get a holiday whenever "drunks are locked up and insist on singing their riotous cowboy songs," Principal Frank McKilligot said yesterday.

Earlier yesterday in Toronto J. O. Trussler, school inspector for North Bay, told members of the Royal Commission for education in Ontario that the high school here is in the town's jail building.

Principal McElligott said plans for a new $48,000 high school building were blocked in 1936.

"I understand it is planned to erect a $100,000 building," he added. "The present set-up is retarding the growth of Mattawa. People won't come into town when they find out where the high school is and many have left town for the same reason."

Plan No Statement Till End of Parley

WINNIPEG, Oct. 25.—(CP)—No statement will be issued before the end of the closed conference between meat-packing union representatives and officials of Canada's three major meat-packing companies, Mr. Justice S. E. Richards said last night.

The first session of negotiations, attended by 28 representatives of the United Packinghouse Workers Union (CIO) and 12 delegates from Burns and Company, Swift Canadian and Canada Packers, was held here yesterday. Justice Richards, who is presiding, said "it was a very friendly discussion."

The union, representing 12,000 workers in 19 meat-packing plants across Canada, submitted demands for a 40-hour five-day week with the same pay now received for a 48-hour week.

The workers, who have already taken a strike vote, are prepared to go on strike if their demands for a master agreement are not accepted. The conference is expected to continue for several days.

Study Removal Of Restrictions On Cream Sales

By C. W. DINGWALL
Edmonton Bulletin Ottawa Bureau

OTTAWA, Oct. 25. — The Wartime Prices and Trade Board is considering some adjustments to lighten present restrictions on the retail sale of cream, according to reliable information here.

Members of the board were noncommittal as to whether removal of all or part of the restrictions was contemplated. For the present, at least, it is not intended to change the butter ration.

Distribution of cream by the dairies is limited to a quota basis of their 1944 sales. The dairies are also restricted to the sale of cream not over 18 per cent butterfat.

REMOVE CONTROLS

On November 1, the agricultural food board will remove its stabilization restrictions on the purchase and sale of cream and milk, which was imposed two years ago. This means that after November 1 farmers will be able to sell milk and cream to any creamery, cheese factory, dairy or condensary. The trade will be able to buy also—subject to provincial regulations — from any producer.

These restrictions were imposed to ensure creameries enough cream to maintain the butter ration and cheese factories sufficient milk to fill cheese contracts with Britain. It also prevented unnecessary diversion of milk from one use to another.

City Man's Brother Dies at Ottawa

Word was received on Wednesday by Sidney C. Betts, a member of the staff of The Edmonton Bulletin, of the sudden death of his brother, Samuel G. Betts in Ottawa. The late Mr. Betts spent some time in Alberta in 1900, later returning east and the past several years has been active in the real estate and brokerage business in Ottawa, where the family first settled in the early 70's.

Mr. Betts is survived by his wife, two children, two other brothers and one sister, all resident in Ottawa.

1,300 Students At New College

OTTAWA, Oct. 25.—(CP)—The fact that after four years, "1,300 students are studying this year in Ottawa who otherwise would have no such opportunity indicates that we were quite right in founding the college," Dr. H. M. Tory, president of Carleton College, told graduates at the first autumn convocation of the institution here last night. The efforts to build up the college by Dr. Tory, former president of the University of Alberta and president of the National Research Council, were lauded by P. D. Ross, honorary chairman of the board of governors.

Bracken Protests Delay in Commons

OTTAWA, Oct. 25.—(CP)—A protest against the way business of the House of Commons is being conducted was registered yesterday by John Bracken, Progressive Conservative leader. He objected to delay in dealing with the war appropriation bill which has been before the House for some time.

The occasion was Finance Minister Ilsley's announcement that Thursday he would proceed with his resolution on the setting up of a national housing and mortgage corporation. Mr. Bracken said that, if things went on as they were, the appropriation bill would have to be rushed through at the end of the session.

Mr. Ilsley said the government could not do everything at once. It had important legislation to introduce and if it did not bring it in until the end of the session it would be criticized. He agreed to adjourn debate on the housing corporation Thursday to permit discussion of war appropriation estimates, but said that might not be agreeable to the House.

"If the minister speaks I shall want to make a reply," said Mr. Bracken.

M. J. Coldwell, CCF leader, suggested party whips get together and arrange to eliminate repetition of questions on war appropriations.

Edmonton and Highway

Not only the people of this immediate area, but the people of all Canada, owe a debt of gratitude to the Hon. James A. MacKinnon for the part he has played in formulating the policy which will make the Alaska Highway a permanent route for peacetime use.

Both Mr. MacKinnon's announcement to this effect and the subsequent disclosure that the Canadian Army will take over the Highway next April 1 while the RCAF will take over the North West Staging Route on June 1 constitute the best kind of news for all Canada.

Nevertheless, the new development has a peculiar and intimate interest for this particular community because the future of Edmonton is linked up so closely with the development of the North. And certainly no factor is more important in the development of the North than the maintenance of the Alaska Highway and its corollary transportation services.

The $115,000,000 highway which runs between Dawson Creek and Fairbanks was built as a defence job by the United States Army in 1942. But it has become increasingly obvious as the amazing potentialities of the North have unfolded that its function as a military mechanism is infinitely less than its eventual function as a mechanism for progress and economic expansion.

Edmonton, then, has a peculiar and personal interest in the new situation established by the welcome and timely announcement of Mr. MacKinnon.

From the standpoint of this community there are certain complementary undertakings which must be pushed at full speed if this area is to derive greatest benefit from the new policy.

For instance, a road from Edmonton to Grande Prairie by way of Whitecourt and Valleyview and thence west to Tupper must be soon built as the direct connection between the Peace River country and the Peace River bloc of British Columbia and as the connecting link to the Highway.

The survey which has been completed, under direction of the Alberta minister of public works, should be the basis of a work program to be commenced at an early date leading to the building of a first class highway which should be paved as early as possible.

This road would serve both Peace River, Grande Prairie and all points in the Peace River area as well as connect up Edmonton and Dawson Creek at the beginning of the Highway.

In short, the projected roadway would give meaning and substance to the value of the Alaska Highway so far as Alberta is concerned.

It is an essential complement to Mr. MacKinnon's announcement and would tend to translate a hopeful picture into an economic reality.

A Matter of Business

A hundred dollar Victory bond is worth more than a hundred dollar bill. The bond draws interest; the bill doesn't.

Both are equally valid claims on the national authority, backed by all the assets and earning power of the nation. If for any reason the holder of a bond wants to exchange it for a bill he can do that without any trouble at the nearest bank.

Keeping surplus money in bonds is as convenient as keeping it in a bank and more profitable; and far safer than carrying it around in the pocket. Not only safer because pockets may be picked but because there is less temptation to spend it frivolously or at times—like the present—when goods are scare, prices above normal, and inflation a very present threat.

Aside altogether from the purposes for which the Government is asking for the Ninth Victory loan, it is the best kind of business to put idle money in these bonds. To not do that is folly.

Back For a Fourth Term

Nova Scotia voters seem to be well satisfied with the record of their provincial Liberal government during three consecutive terms—though not continuously under the same premier—and with the twelve-point program on which it appealed for return to power.

In the general elections on Tuesday 28 Liberals were elected and 2 CCF members. For the first time since confederation, there will be no Conservatives in the new legislature. At dissolution the party standing was: Liberals 23, Conservatives 4, CCF 3. One opposition group was wiped out at the polls and the other reduced by 33 per cent.

Both Liberals and Conservatives put full contingents of 30 candidates in the field. The latter elected none. The CCF ran 20 candidates and elected 2. In the general elections in 1941 this party ran 6 candidates and elected 3.

Coming at the end of three successive terms in office, this 93 per cent plurality for the government is a remarkable demonstration of sustained public confidence. Only a good record and a good program can account for such an outcome.

Where Fascism Begins

A "fact sheet" issued by the U.S. war department a few months ago for the guidance of forces abroad defines Fascism in as clear and realistic a way as could be done. The two first, and analytic, clauses are:

"1. Fascism is a set of ideas.

"2. Fascism is an alliance of three groups of the population: (a) a power-hungry military clique, (b) certain powerful business and financial interests, (c) a so-called political party, which is actually a group of political adventurers and racketeers."

The following clauses explain what Fascism does or tries to do when its "set of ideas" have been made the basis of such an alliance. It is not necessary to quote these. The facts stand out from the well-known records of what the Fascists in Germany, Italy and other European countries did. There is little danger that these things will be forgotten.

But what civilians should particularly keep in mind—and are likely to overlook—is why these things were done, and how it was possible to do them. The two clauses reproduced go to the root of the matter and point to the source and substance of Fascism.

The origin of the cult is a "set of ideas". Where these sprout and spread, all the rest tends to follow. Obviously, the place to stop Fascism is where it starts, in the cultivation of these ideas.

Boundary lines are no barriers to ideas, bad or good. Fascists are not always in uniform. Nor are they all somewhere on the other side of the world. We have some in Canada. Spot their ideas they can be identified. The public should learn to recognize these ideas, and combat them wherever they crop out.

Fair Play for Doctors

By Elmore Philpott
In The Vancouver Sun

Canada is not yet playing fair with the doctors and dentists who went overseas. Returning to civilian life they are finding it next to impossible to resume ordinary practice. In many centres there is no available space in which these men can do their work.

The government should use its sweeping powers to re-allot office space, not only as among all people practicing the same profession, but as between its own functionaries and the public servants.

Surely it is up to the medical societies and dental associations to induce their own members to share what space is available. It would be an outrage if the men and women who had answered their country's appeal to serve at the fighting fronts were to be debarred indefinitely from resuming practice. Yet that is the harsh truth of today. In one city of Canada is a surgeon who served for the entire war in the Mediterranean area. You will find his name in the war book, "Tattered Battlements," which tells of his part in the epic battle of Malta. But you will not find his name on any surgeon's office today. He is forced to try to resume practice in hospital only.

The astonishing thing is that in some cities where doctors and dentists cannot get office space Warplane Priefer and Trade Board bureaus are holding large blocks of empty office space.

The post office has not made arrangements for shipment of parcels to Norway. You can ship a parcel to some relative in the United States and that relative can send the parcel to Norway from the U.S. But not yet from Canada.

There is another curious fact about this whole parcel business. You can send heavier parcels to the Irish Free State than to Britain or to other countries which fought on our side in the war.

You can place a money order with a Montreal firm which will forward a parcel to Norway from Denmark; but you can't send one direct.

Norway never needed parcels so much as now. Canadians of Norwegian descent could greatly help to relieve suffering in Norway if our post office would make arrangements in time.

"Other service men and women are faced with the same problem, and I think the only thing to do is to accept your old job."

He declares that the man who was an office boy during the war and has since become a bomber pilot will have to forget about his service career and start civil life where he left off.

Prophecies of Lord Tennyson Recalled

FROM THE HALIFAX HERALD

The prophetic vision of Lord Tennyson, in his poem Locksley Hall, relative to aerial combat, has frequently been quoted during the war just closed:

Heard the heavens fill with shouting and there rain'd a ghastly dew

From the nations' airy navies grappling in the central blue.

And now it is suggested that this prophet-bard of the Victorian era also envisioned something akin to the atomic bomb in the less familiar lines:

Science moves . . . from point to point . . .

Comes a vapor from the margin, blackening over heath and holt.

Cramming all the blast before it, in its breast a thunderbolt.

It is to be remembered, however, that Tennyson's vision of the future and "all the wonder that would be" did not stop with the march of science and the wizard-marvels of evasive warfare. He also envisioned the one worthy goal of all our human striving for the establishment of peace in a warless world:

Till the war-drum throbb'd no longer, and the battle flags were furl'd
In the Parliament of Man, the Federation of the World.

The coming of the atomic bomb, and what it portends, should spur the efforts and determination of mankind to bring that sane prophecy of a federated world to fulfilment, else civilization is, ultimately, world destruction.

Colonies As Security

SAN FRANCISCO ARGONAUT

America has no desire to take advantage of Britain's necessity, but she would be playing the part of a fool, if in a business transaction, she allowed her debtor to enjoy all the gain while she pocketed all the loss, if one were incurred.

Britain has territorial possessions in this hemisphere for which she has little need, while they would be distinctly advantageous to us. Why should she not be willing to pledge them as security for an American loan, or sell them to us, in which case the necessity for a loan would not arise?

There is Jamaica in the West Indies, and there are Bermuda and the Bahamas. The attitude of most Americans towards Great Britain in her present plight is sympathetic, but America is not herself in a condition to lend money to another nation, if the loan is to be considered not a business transaction, but an act of charity.

Japan Planned World Conquest

By J. S. C. in The Vancouver Province

All that Japan planned to achieve world conquest and the method by which she was to do it, is now revealed by publication of the Tanaka Memorial—the document drawn up by Premier Baron Tanaka after an all-day conference with all the civil and military officers connected with Mongolia and Manchuria.

Existence of this memorial was officially denied in Tokyo after it was now published in extenso and admission made that it was presented by Premier Tanaka to the Japanese Emperor on July 25, 1927. That date marks the beginning of Japanese plans for the attack on Britain, United States, the seizure of the Philippines and Dutch Archipelago and the march on India, a preliminary to domination of the whole world.

It reveals the cold-blooded plans of the Japanese to accomplish their ends by bribery, deceit and cruelty.

While the memorial is far too long for printing in full, and much of it is devoted to plans for strategic railways and assessment of Japan's resources to be seized in coal, timber, oil, aluminum and waterpower, the two Chinese provinces marked for conquest, some quotations will prove illuminating.

World conquest is predicated on Shintoism—the belief that Japan is the third stage laid down by the Emperor Meiji, and defeat the limitations by the Nine-power Treaty to which Japan was a party—signed at the Washington Conference.

Tanaka says: "I was sent to Europe and America to ascertain secretly the attitude of the important statesmen. They were all agreed that the Nine-power pact was initiated by the United States. . . . This attitude I found out personally from the political leaders of England, France and Italy."

Advocating a policy of "blood and iron," Tanaka continues: "In carrying out this policy we have to face United States . . . If we want to control China we must first crush the United States, just as we had to fight in the Russo-Japanese war . . . In order to conquer China we must first conquer Manchuria and Mongolia. In order to conquer the world we must first conquer China. Then the world will realize that Eastern Asia is ours and will not dare to violate our rights.

"The way to gain actual rights in Manchuria and Mongolia is to use this region as a base and under the pretense of trade and commerce penetrate the rest of China. Then we shall seize the resources and over the country. Having China's entire resources at our disposal we shall proceed to conquer India, the Archipelago, Asia Minor, Central Asia and Europe . . . We must appropriate 1,000,000 yen from the secret funds of the army so that 400 retired officers disguised as teachers and Chinese citizens, may be sent to Outer and Inner Mongolia to mix with the people and gain the confidence of the Mongolian princes."

For a similar penetration of Korea by disguised Japanese officers Tanaka advises that they wear Chinese clothing and in stirring up insurrections, he adds, "then the world will not be able to tell whether it is the Chinese Koreans or the Japanese Koreans who create the trouble. We can always sell dog's meat with a sheep's head as sign-board."

What of the Chinese and Koreans under Japanese rule. Tanaka is quite frank. They will ruin the Chinese merchants by manipulation of currency, and by creating a Japanese monopoly of trade. And, he adds: "Moreover, we can make the princess pass laws discriminating against Chinese immigrants. When life there is made miserable for the Chinese they naturally will leave. There are other methods also to bar the Chinese. If we try hard enough, no Chinese footprints will be left on Mongolian territory."

Thus did the little brown man propose to steal for his country 74,000 square miles of rich land and dispossess its 28,000,000 inhabitants.

According to the Tanaka Memorial, both Manchuria and Mongolia have riches in agricultural lands, forests and minerals far beyond general knowledge. Its special knowledge Japan had purposely kept from the world.

He discusses the possibility of trouble from Russia and regards that country (in 1927) as having lost power, and to be helpless against Japanese might once the proposed seven lines of military railways are to be built under the guise of development roads—are constructed. He suggests methods of provoking war when the time comes and adds: "Manchuria and Mongolia are the Belgium of the Far East. In the Great War, Belgium was the battlefield. In our wars with Russia and the United States, we must make Manchuria and Mongolia suffer the ravages."

After all this planned bloodshed, as a preliminary to world conquest, this little brown spider spinning his web for the slaughter of more millions in India and Europe, ends with a note of childish Japanese naivete. He says: "Then we shall build hospitals and schools in Manchuria to make the people realize our goodness, so that they will feel thankful to us."

Such "goodness" is better behind the bars of a camp for war criminals.

Tenants in Russia

From Soviet Information Bulletin

Soviet law gives all dwellings in the Soviet Union belong to the State, to co-operatives, or to public organizations. But many individuals own their houses.

Vacant living accommodations in buildings belonging to the local Soviets are allocated on application issued by the housing departments of the Soviets. Homes owned by individuals are entirely at their disposal.

The right of the citizen to occupy certain premises is laid down in the lease or contract drawn up between the lessee as tenant and the lessor. The tenant has the option of renewing the lease when it expires.

Eviction takes place only as a result of a court action brought by the interested person or organization. Legal grounds for the eviction of a tenant without the provision of alternative accommodation may be: the lessee's departure to another permanent place of residence without leaving to the lessor the premises formerly occupied, persistent wanton damage caused to the premises by the lessee or his family and non-payment of rent over a period of some months. In all other cases where the law permits eviction, the tenant must be provided with suitable alternative accommodation.

Tenants have the right to exchange premises with other tenants of living quarters, all rights and obligations being transferred to the new tenant.

The provision by organs of the State of housing accommodation for those living in towns and factory settlements makes it possible to guarantee these rights.

Rents in the U.S.S.R. are extremely low, charged not for profit but to recover the cost of the building and maintaining the house. They are calculated according to the type of building, the lessee's salary and the number of his dependents.

The maximum rent-payable by factory and office workers is one kopeck per square metre per month, paid only by people earning a minimum of 420 rubles per month. But an increase in salary over this amount does not lead to an increase in rent.

In calculating rent only actual living space is counted. Kitchens, corridors, bathrooms, cupboards and storerooms are not counted.

Soldiers in service are charged a special reduced rent of 80 kopecks per square meter.

Rent is picked up of the budgets of 80 families living in a block of flats in Moscow it was found that the rent charged amounted to no more than two to five per cent of the tenants' total income.

Rent is paid monthly in arrears.

The occupation of premises and the uses to which they are put are governed by special legislation in the form of the constituent Republics of the Soviet Union. This applies particularly to the minimum amount of floor space to be provided and the duties of the authorities have the right to raise this standard, but not to reduce it.

Certain categories of tenants have the right to special treatment in this respect. Special standards have been introduced for artists, scientists and writers so as to insure living conditions that will enable them to work productively. Tenants who have to work at home such as medical and dental specialists, doctors, lawyers, etc.—also enjoy the higher standard.

A person who wishes to build is granted credit to do so by contract with the local Soviet. This includes the right not only to obtain a vacant lot in or near a city, but also to occupy a lot containing unfinished or damaged buildings. Leases of land are granted for 65 years in the case of new buildings and for 50 years in the case of wooden buildings.

In the Soviet Union private building is financed through the State bank and are guaranteed the necessary materials. Persons who obtain loans are under an obligation to invest not less than 36 per cent of the total cost of the building. This sum, incidentally, may be contributed by a trade union or by own labor on the house. Loans are given for five years at an interest of two per cent. Building rights are transferable.

Shoe Situation

Editor, Bulletin: Recently I heard a woman complaining of her inability to obtain shoes for her children, while there appeared to be abundance of shoes for men and women. Permit me to inform that mother that shoes for men and women are far from plentiful.

Having just returned from a trip to the factories in western Ontario and also from the province of Quebec, I can assure you that conditions are worse today than at any time since 1940. Manufacturers have no hope from the present outlook it will be at least two years before retail stores can expect to have adequate supplies to take care of consumers' requirements.

Factory production is retarded through scarcity of everything that goes into shoes, so much so that next spring quotas now out are no greater than they were for fall 1945.

European demands for both leather and shoes is also making the situation acute. Deliveries of men's, women's and children's shoes are months behind schedule.

Our boys returning from overseas are creating increasing demands on what can be justly termed already depleted shoe stocks. I sympathize with mothers in their shopping, but can see little relief if any for some time to come.

Discharge Delays

Editor, Bulletin: Recently I have read several letters in this column complaining about soldiers with long service not being returned to Canada ahead of zombies and active service soldiers with low-point scores. While I am fully aware of the injustice of this procedure, it may surprise many to know that a somewhat similar state of affairs exists here in Canada whereby men who have been in the service for three and four years and who were not sent overseas due to low medical category, or so-called "special skills," are being kept in the army despite the fact that selective service has approved their release to engage in essential industries. At the same time, men with as low-point scores as 10 and 12 are being released who could very easily be trained for the jobs held by men with 90 and 95 points. As to the policy laid down by the department of national defence, "of zombies being kept in the army until active service personnel are released, this has been quietly ignored, so that we find zombies with one year's service being released while "active" men are told that there are no replacements for them and so they must remain in the army. Of course, the plight and exigencies of the service can al-ways be trotted out as an excuse to hold a man, but after I have seen it applied to men on fatigue duties and similar "special skills," I am sure it is being abused.

Grateful

Editor, Bulletin: I am a member of the RAF soon to return to England and as an Englishman there are some things I shall not forget about Canadians and Canadians as displayed in war years. I shall not forget the love and concern for England; the stirring of a vast audience at the strains of "There'll always be an England"; the unending forth of well-loved sons, daughters and husbands; the gathering together of many garments; the wonderful readiness to supply when asked for help in need; the unexpected offers of money; the generosity of all too scarce; the constancy of the blood donations; the acceptance of ration restrictions to help feed the besieged land, and, this I shall never forget, the thousands of homes always ready, impatient to give shelter to Britain's children if need be. There are so many things to remember. We who are England's sons must never forget them.

High Brackets Benefit

Editor, Bulletin: Regarding the income tax cuts, I don't think there is a country in the world with such unfair taxes as Canada. The new rates give a single man with an income of $3,000, a cut of $151.52, a married man in the same income brackets a cut of $52.28. There could be nothing more unfair than a flat cut of 10 per cent. People with a small income, who really need the cut, get next to nothing, while those in the high income brackets save hundreds of dollars.

Soap Shortage

Editor, Bulletin: Why has washing soap disappeared from the grocer's shelves?

This lack is particularly serious to homes in which there are babies. We have grown accustomed to inconveniences during these wartime years, but lack of washing soap is more than an inconvenience—it is a danger to health.

Depraved Japanese Beastiality Bared On March of Death

Horrors—Almost Beyond Belief—Inflicted On Captives—Many Bayonetted, Others End Misery by Suicide

Today's article by General Jonathan M. Wainwright, the 15th in his series, tells of the Jap shelling of the American Flag on Corregidor and the sadistic and unforgettable Bataan Death March.—EDITOR.

By GENERAL JONATHAN M. WAINWRIGHT

(Copyright 1945, King Features Syndicate, Inc., and The Edmonton Bulletin. Reproduction in whole or in part strictly prohibited.)

General George C. Marshall's message of encouragement to Corregidor came at a time when we all needed a lift, not only because of the shelling and the outlook but because of a grim bit of symbolism which thousands of us had witnessed shortly after 3 o'clock that afternoon of April 18, 1942, when our flag became a casualty for a few minutes.

The flag flew from a 100-foot pole at the highest point of The Rock. During an intense bombardment from one of the enemy's 240 mm. batteries on the tip of Bataan a shell fragment struck the pole and cut the halyard.

Slowly, terribly, the flag began to descend down the pole as if drawn by some ghostly and prophetic hand, and most of those crouching in their batteries and holes looked at it as if it were the very sign of our doom.

But as the flag came down the pole and neared the ground three men raced to the bottom of the shaft in the midst of the furious shelling. They were Capt. Brewster G. Gallup, T-Sgt. Erza Smith and a Philippine civilian named Honorio Punongbayen.

Simultaneously they gathered in armsful of the falling flag just before it touched the ground. Working fast and bravely, they repaired the broken halyard, raised the flag again and ran back to shelter. I gave all of them the Silver Star, for what they had done was not only courageous but helped the battered Rock's morale beyond any words.

We were still in there pitching, the flag seemed to say when it regained the top of the pole and stood out briskly in the breeze from the bay.

The pace of the shelling and bombing now quickened. If possible, the shelling was worse than the uncontested aerial attacks. The shelling from Cavite with the long-range 105 mm. guns could, by itself, do no great damage to our installations in the bay. But their 240 mm. howitzers firing from Bataan were something else. They made our lives a hell.

The Bataan peninsula is covered with a dense, tropical growth whose trees often stand more than 100 feet high. Enemy batteries under those trees employed smokeless powder and were therefore almost impossible for our range-finders to locate. On the other hand, Jap observation posts atop the 4,700-foot Mariveles mountains near the top of Bataan, as well as Jap observation balloons and prowling aircraft, made it easy for their gunners to correct their fire on our batteries and other critical targets.

It was a disheartteningly unequal artillery fight, made more unequal by the fact that our batteries were under almost perpetual attack by enemy bombers. Some of the Jap planes were dropping bombs as heavy as a ton, certainly no aid to careful marksmanship on our part.

SHELLING NEVER STOPPED

The shelling never really stopped during the entire 27-day Battle of Corregidor. Night brought no surcease. That is a misconception which in no way can convey the terror and the morale-rotting which the Jap artillery fire visited upon us. No place on The Rock was a suitable haven except the inner recesses of Malinta Tunnel, and we could not fight back from the tunnel, nor could it hold more than a fraction of our men and women.

Four of their artillery hits stand out especially in my memory of those helpless days and nights.

One shell hit a Marine company mess while the men were lined up for their meager suppers, killing and wounding 75 of those gallant fighters. Another struck in the midst of a group of men on Fort Frank assembled to receive an innoculation. The third hit the enlisted men's mess at the west entrance to the tunnel.

But the one that scored directly on Battery Geary was perhaps the worst. It wiped out not only the gunners but also broke up seven of the 12 heavy mortars capable of firing at Bataan. Another was severely damaged. Gen. Moore and I went to Battery Geary immediately after the hit to survey the damage, which clearly showed the tremendous power of the Jap shell. A 10-ton barrel from one of our guns had been picked up like matchwood by the explosion and thrown 150 yards uphill to the cratered golf course.

WOUNDED OWN MEN

For a week after the fall of Bataan I would permit none of our guns to fire against the tip of the peninsula. For six days of that week, the Japs fired at us from that point, but I feared that if we returned the fire it might fall among our captured men. I found out later that even when we did fire, after the week of grace, we did wound some of our men, including Lt. Col. Bob Lindsey, who had been my old I Corps artillery officer.

However, even death from our shells might have been welcomed by some of our men at that time, if they had been able to know what was in store for them. For by April 15 the almost unbelievable Death March toward Camp O'Donnell was on.

From a handful of men who escaped early in that never-to-be forgotten savagery, and from responsible men who participated in it and later reported to me, I learned the sadistic details.

The Japs rounded up my defeated and diseased men in detachments of about 1,000 men each. The first phase of the march was from southern Bataan up to San Fernando Pampanga, about 60 miles. There, in terrible physical condition, they were herded into boxcars like cattle and shipped 20 miles by rail to Capas, in Tarlac Province, where they were prodded out of their cars, lined up and marched about seven more miles to O'Donnell.

WATER SUPPLY POOR

Camp O'Donnell was the site of a Seventy-first Philippine Army Division cantonment. The water supply at this camp had not yet been sufficiently developed when the war started, and such installations as we had had for pumping water had deteriorated beyond usefulness or had been destroyed.

The only water for these thousands of starving and thirst-crazed prisoners could be obtained from the muddy Bamban River, three miles from the camp. No transportation or containers for water other than canteens were available, and few of the men had canteens. The Japs had taken them away for the aluminum in them.

The march from southern Bataan to San Fernando was cunning one day and night for those poor men. They got no food except rice, and not enough of that to sustain life. There were no purification tablets for the diseased waters of the Bamban River.

Capt. Reeder, an American medical officer at O'Donnell, testified to me later that between the time the men arrived at the camp about the third week in April and the end of July, 20,000 of the 45,000 Filipino and 1,400 American troops sent there died of starvation, disease and torture.

COL. BONNETT KILLED

Col. Bonnett, who escaped from his two near Baguio early in the campaign, only to be captured at the fall of Bataan, was killed at O'Donnell when a Jap soldier cracked his skull with a heavy stick or club. He received no proper treatment before his death. Brig. Gen. Lurther R. Stevens also was clubbed about the head, his glasses smashed in his face.

Col. Campbell, head of our Air Warning Service, was bayonetted through the back when he did not walk fast enough to suit the Jap privats behind him. He was only one of thousands thus treated for stumbling or not keeping pace with the killing march.

Many of my men, thirst-crazy, jumped off bridges or threw themselves face-first into creeks and stagnant pools. These men were shot or bayonetted as they lay there drinking the vile waters. My old I Corps adjutant, Lt. Col. Uddenburg, was thus shot.

American and Filipino soldiers, suffering terribly from dysentery, who stopped by the roadside to relieve themselves, were ordered to eat their own excrement. If they refused they were bayonetted or shot.

That was the Death March, committed by depraved beasts whom we had considered human beings.

(Tomorrow: Dread days on Corregidor, and General Wainwright's narrow escape from death.)

FUNNY BUSINESS—"That experimental jet-propulsion plane he was working on in the basement is more powerful than he thought!"

District News in Brief

Colorful Ceremony For Loan Opening

WILLINGDON—Opening of the Ninth Victory Loan campaign in Willingdon was a colorful ceremony. Before 50 Army cadets paraded before a guard of honor made up of the following personnel, most of whom have recently returned from overseas: Peter Paulenco, Nester Tkachuk, Stanley Pawelek, George Demchuk, John Koshman, Jack Zukiwski, Walter Ewaniuk, George Gordey and Steve Assaf. Stanley Pawelek of the Navy raised the flag while the crowd stood at attention.

S. Samoil, chairman of the Willingdon-Andrews-Hairy Hill unit, called on Andrew Boychuk, mayor of Willingdon; Nick S. Shewchuk district organizer, Father Wasylik and Cadet Capt. L. Kostash, who each spoke of the work to be done pointing out that the past this district has always gone well over the top.

In the evening, a national film board show was presented by H. Hunchak, and Samoil told how the money loaned in this drive was to be loaned to European countries.

Peace River

PEACE RIVER—For the third time this fall, windstorms have introduced to the Peace River district dust storms that have been heard about but seldom experienced here. The dust is so dense that it is next to impossible to drive cars on the highway and visibility at times has been reduced to zero. The long dry spell of the past four months has used up any indication of moisture in the ground.

One of the oldest established farms in the district, the Keith ranch, has been sold by the last surviving member of the family, who in 1910 emigrated from Montana into the Little Prairie Country. The price is said to be around $20,000. When the Keith family, consisting of the mother and three brothers, made the long trek in 1910, the Little Prairie Country, 20 miles east of town was practically the only piece of open prairie east of the Peace River. It has been steadily opened up until it is now of considerable extent and well-populated. It contains the finest of black soil.

Official Visits Settler Members

PONOKA—The Battle River chapter, OES, was honored this week by a visit from the Worthy Grand Matron, Mrs. Alice Sparling of Calgary. Members were present from lodges at Lacombe, Red Deer, Wetaskiwin, Bashaw and Edmonton.

Following lodge work, a presentation was made to the official visitors and a dainty buffet supper was served.

Chicken Supper Staged at Millet

MILLET— Chicken supper was staged at the Community hall Saturday under auspices of the United Church Ladies Aid, when the residents of the town and surrounding community turned out to the annual thanksgiving observance.

Harvest Proceeds

OLDS—Fine weather in the past two weeks has speeded up harvesting and threshing and it is estimated that 75 per cent has been completed. Early frosts cut down the yield and grades, according to district farmers. Wheat averages 20 bushels to the acre, oats, 40; and barley, 30.

Address Unit

STETTLER—Local unit for the Ninth Victory Loan, now underway, was addressed at a dinner meeting by W. W. Sharpe and R. P. Leveque, divisional organizers. Mayor T. J. Kirby was chairman.

Willingdon

WILLINGDON—Well known resident of this community for more than 45 years, Wasyl Shandro of Whitford died in the Willingdon general hospital Sunday. Mr. Shandro, at the age of 14 years, came to this country from Austria and settled in the Shandro district, which is named after his uncles who were the first settlers in that part of the country.

In 1905 he married Miss Martha Megley. Early last spring he moved to the Whitford district. He is survived by Mrs. Shandro, four daughters, Mrs. John Trajnosh and Mrs Nick Danelluk of Whitford, Mrs. M. Fodchuk of Hairy Hill and Mrs. Sam Menkinsky of Andrew; four sons, Sam of Cadron, Alberta George of Andrew, John and Alexander, recently discharged from the armed forces, of Whitford.

The funeral was held Wednesday from Shandro Church. Park Memorial had charge of funeral arrangements.

Alberta Rolls Over UBC Gridders in Hardy Cup Series Clash

Golden Bears Crush Thunderbirds 12-0

The Bulletin's SPORT SHOW by Hal Dean

SPORTS EDITOR

THERE are probably no good "Bears" in Greg Kabat's book today, for his UBC Thunderbirds left for Saskatchewan early this morning, minus most of their feathers and much of their thunder. The Vancouver boys play Huskies on Saturday and Saskatchewan will be here to meet Alberta on Nov. 3, with a trip to the Pacific the prize.

The setback sustained doubtless was a shock to the British Columbians, and possibly it was a surprise to many Albertans, but ex-Bomber Kabat may have had a premonition, for almost his first words to this operator after the game were: "I was afraid of this."

Their 14-5 win over the Huskies on top of the 12-0 triumph last night, places Maury Van Vliet's Golden Bears in the driver's seat so far as the Hardy cup is concerned. Thunderbirds will be tougher around their own totem pole, but right now it looks like Alberta.

BEARS EARNED THEIR WIN

BADLY WESTCOTT turned in a neat kicking assignment for the Bears last night and consistently out-punted the opposition. Freshman Bill Ingram handled the job after Paddy retired in the fourth quarter and the two piled up a yardage total of 418 as compared to the 246 of their opponents.

Statistician Don Killips says the pair averaged 41.8 or exactly 11 yards better than the Thunderbird booters. Alberta kickoffs averaged 15 yards better.

Yards gained rushing shows 233 for Alberta and 111 for UBC and this item along with the 16 first downs in comparison to 10, just about tells the reasons why. Thunderbirds gained 51 yards in passing to 50 for Golden Bears.

It was plenty cold last night, but the 2,000 or so fans who turned out saw the finest exhibition of football staged at Clarke Stadium in years.

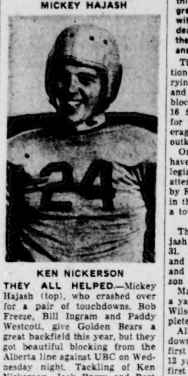
NUMAN HERE NOV. 5

TOMMY TASKER, Edmonton's mat impresario, advises that Lou Numan, of Columbus, Ohio, has been selected as opposition for Chief Thunderbird in the wrestling show at Empire Theatre on Monday, Nov. 5.

Rated as one of the strongest and best built men in the business, Numan is a former weightlifting champion. He has been 10 years in the wrestling game and is reputed to be plenty rugged in the ring.

The main bout, as previously announced, is between Jim Wright, the tough Texan, whom the fans here thoroughly detest, and Pierre Desjane, Montreal Frenchman, who has been well liked in his two appearances in Edmonton. Prelims are not fully settled, but Leo Magrl and Steve Jossul are expected to figure somewhere on the card.

MICKEY HAJASH



KEN NICKERSON

THEY ALL HELPED.—Mickey Hajash (top), who crashed over for a pair of touchdowns, Bob Freeze, Bill Ingram and Paddy Westcott, give Golden Bears a great backfield this year, but they got beautiful blocking from the Alberta line against UBC on Wednesday night. Tackling of Ken Nickerson, Jack Perry and Bert Hall was terrific.

11 Points Marked Up By Hajash

By HAL DEAN

DRIVING hard for three quarters and outplaying the Thunderbirds by a wide margin, Alberta's Golden Bears manuled University of British Columbia 12-0 in Wednesday night's Hardy football cup session at Clarke Stadium. About 2,000 saw the game despite the chilly weather.

Touchdowns in the second and third quarters by Mickey Hajash, great plunging backfielder, along with his convert and a kick in the deadline by Paddy Westcott in the first 15 minutes, gave Albertans their decisive victory.

Thunderbirds had no combination to match the Alberta ball-carrying trio of Hajash, Bob Freeze and Bill Ingram, who, given fine blocking, ripped through UBC for 16 first down as compared to 10 for their opponents. Westcott, averaging over 40 yards, continually outkicked the UBC punters

Only in passing did the visitors have an edge. The Vancouver collegians completed five out of 10 attempted forwards and one thrown by Rex Wilson to Dimitri Goulobef in the second period, was good for a total gain of 35 yards.

Thunderbirds kicked off and Hajash received the ball on his own 31. Ingram picked up two yards and Hajash added a couple more and then Westcott booted to Wilson on UBC's 31.

MacIntosh, visiting centre, gained a yard on the first down and then Wilson threw to Lamb for a completed pass gain of 13.

Alberta held on the next two downs and kicked. On the first down Freeze zig-zagged for 13 yards with good blocking, for a first down.

Bears failed to move the sticks on two downs and Westcott kicked. Bert Hall smeared the UBC ball carrier on the first down to run it and the whole Alberta line smothered the next try.

Jack Perry then broke through to block the UBC kick and Alberta gained possession just 10 yards out from the line.

Ingram carried the ball a couple of yards, but Hajash was stopped for no gain and then, electing to play for a touchdown, Alberta attempted forward just missed, giving UBC possession.

Thunderbirds moved the yard-sticks once, but then failed on two downs and kicked. Freeze threw a 15-yard forward to Ingram who ran 10 more, to the UBC 25.

Hajash plunged through for nine and an attempted forward failed. Westcott then booted for a point, the ball rolling over the deadline.

Alberta completely dominated in the second quarter, marking up 10 first downs to UBC's three.

Thunderbirds picked up yards the first time they had possession. MacIntosh plunging for nine of them. Tennant ran the ball seven more and UBC kicked.

Freeze ran 25 yards to Thunderbird's 52 and Hajash drove through the line for 10 more. Freeze threw to Ingram who raced to UBC's 25. Hajash and Freeze moved the sticks again and Westcott was tackled high, the added penalty placed the ball just five yards out.

Freeze gained four and Ingram was just inches short of going over. On the next play Hajash with good blocking went over the left end for the touchdown to make the count 6-0. Westcott's attempted convert failed.

Thunderbirds elected to receive and Wilson punted the latter to his 25. Goulebef threw a pass to Wyatt for a nice gain and then Wilson tossed a 25-yarder to Goulebef who hustled 10 more to Alberta's 20.

UBS failed to capitalize on the opportunity. They were offside on the line-up and Rae Sutherland crashed through to smear the ball-carrier for a loss on the next attempt. An incompleted forward gave Alberta possession and they marched down the field, being stopped finally just two yards over the line by the half-time whistle.

BUC kicked off to Westcott to start the third quarter and with Freeze, Ingram and Hajash alternating, Alberta moved the sticks twice. The Bears then failed to gain yards on two downs and Westcott kicked. Thunderbirds also kicked after being held.

Alberta started forward again, and after getting within punting distance Westcott kicked, but Wilson ran the ball out.

Art Follett stopped Guman cold and Murray Smith and Ingram then combined to swell UBC kicked out of touch on their own 20.

Hajash ra nthe ball 12 yards and Freeze went around right end for six more. Westcott was injured and retired, his place being taken by Rick Hislop.

Ingram reduced the distance to a single yard and then with beautiful blocking, Hajash skirted the left end for another touchdown. Art Howard got the ball back to Ingram who held for Hajash and Mickey hoisted the pigskin over the bar to make the score 12-0

Boston Beaten 5-4

Two Late Goals By Hamill Give Hawks First Victory

BOSTON, Oct. 25.—(AP)—A pair of unassisted goals by Captain Red Hamill during the last seven minutes of play 5-4 victory over Boston Bruins gave Chicago Black Hawks a in the National Hockey League's 1945-46 opener last night at the Bos'on Garden.

The Bruins had broken out of two deadlocks when the sharpshooting Hamill lashed the Hawks into a 4-4 tie by driving a 40-footer through goalie Paul Bibeault from the left boards.

With only 45 seconds to go, Hamill worked his way to the other side of the rink and blasted in a 30-foot angle shot to clinch the game.

Max Bentley also tallied two unassisted goals for the victors, who gained first blood during the seventh minute of play when Clint Smith, Hawk wing, belted by Alex Kaleta, saw his rebound deflected into a goal by one of the Boston defencemen.

Veteran Bill Cowley tallied twice for the Bruins. Don Gallinger and Jack Shill scored once each.

Before the game, a benefit for a wounded veterans' fund, an overflow crowd of 13,901 which provided receipts of $21,456.74, roared welcome-home ovations to Boston's famed Kitchener, Ont., line of Milt Schmidt, Woody Dumart and Bobby Bauer, as well as the returned veterans on both teams.

TORONTO, Oct. 25—(CP)—A dappled grey trotting gelding which trained the last two winters at Point Pleasant Park in Halifax can look back today on an imposing 1945 record compiled in competition at the three-week grand circuit meet at Old Orchard, Me., and elsewhere in New England.

In 28 dashes, Bona Beau owned by Alderman J. H. Breen of Halifax placed first seven times and was second eight times. Purchased in Ontario as a two-year-old late in 1943, Bona Beau is considered an outstanding prospect for 1946 trots, possibly at Roosevelt in New York state where night racing is popular.

Bona Beau sired by Corporal Lee, will winter at Woodstock, N.B., in the stable of Earl Avery, well-known Maritime reinsman who steered the gelding in all races last season.

Bombers Trounce Concordia In International Grid Test

WINNIPEG, Oct. 25.—(CP)—Coming to life late in the game, Winnipeg Blue Bombers scored all their points in the fourth quarter to defeat Concordia College, Minn., 28-7 in an international football game here last night.

The Concordia team from Moorhead, Minn., had play all their own way during the first half and had the ball inside Winnipeg's 10-yard line on two occasions before Augie Hoeger plunged over for a major score.

They converted on a pass from Hoeger to Bob Hallquist. Halfback Harry Johnson picked up the first real gain for Bombers as the third quarter ended when he ran 32 yards to the Concordia 13-yard line. After two plunges he threw a pass to Ches McCance for Bombers' first touchdown. McCance converted.

After that Winnipeg ran roughshod over the U.S. college team. They recovered a fumble and Lloyd Boivin smashed through the line for the converted touchdown to make the score 15-7. A pass from Harry Hood to Steve Bohunki on the 30-yard stripe was good and Bohunki ran the rest of the way for Winnipeg's third major score.

Hood completed the scoring from the 15-yard line after cutting from one side of the field to the other and go over standing up. He also kicked the convert.

Krol Would Like Another Chance Make Pro Grid

By WILFRED GRUSON

TORONTO, Oct. 25 — (CP) — Though slightly bitter at Detroit Lions after a futile fling with them at American professional football, Joe Krol would like another crack to make the grade.

The next time, however, he'd like to stipulate the conditions of the tryout—he'd like to get into the lineup more.

As a slight controversy seemed shaping over his eligibility to play amateur for Toronto Argonauts after his recent release from the pro game, Joe said Wednesday he looked on his brief big time stay as "experience."

"I think I could hold up my own with most of them in that league, if I were given the chance," he said. "Except for the really outstanding players no one showed much more than I did, myself.

"They had lots of opportunities to shoot me into the lineup a lot more than they did especially in exhibition games. The few times I was on the playing field wasn't leng enough to get the feel of the ball."

The former University of Western Ontario and Hamilton Wildcats backfielder got into four games altogether, playing about 12 minutes against Philadelphia Eagles and five minutes against Washington Red Skins in exhibitions and just long enough for one kick in regular league games against Chicago Cardinals and the champion Green Bay Packers.

Participation in the two league games weighs heavily against his case for eligibility to play for Argos. Jimmy Dolan, secretary-treasurer of the league and a member of the Argo executive said the board was under the impression Krol had played only in one exhibition game when he thought, would not have been a major issue. The board will rule on it before Friday.

Byron Nelson Is Remarkable Sport Figure

By WHITNEY MARTIN

NEW YORK, Oct. 25—(AP)—Byron Nelson, current king of the golf world, is one of the most remarkable figures in sport.

He neither smokes nor drinks, and in every way takes meticulous care of his health.

He tried to join the United States armed forces three times during the war, but was turned down each time for physical reasons.

He still wears the same size hat as he did when he won the Metropolitan open in 1936, with only six bucks to his name.

Byron Nelson

He never complains about anything—pairing, starting time, condition of course, breaks. You could pair him with baseball clown Al Schact and he'd never say a word, but would go out and shoot his 66, and know what Al shot, too.

When he arrived in Spokane, Wash. at 10 p.m. for the P.G.A. tournament after an airplane trip from Tulsa, he stood in line at the desk of the hotel where he thought he had a reservation. He told the clerk his name, but the clerk said he was sorry they couldn't give him a room because "the golf crowd was in town."

Nelson turned away meekly and called Fred Corcoran, P.G.A. tournament manager, to see if he could not find him a place to sleep. All he did was win the tournament.

He never goes to a practice tee. He may go to the practice green and knock the ball about casually, carrying on conversation just as casually with anyone around. Otherwise his preparation consists of walking to the first tee, removing the sweater, fixing his necktie and taking three—always three—practice swings, and teeing off.

Shooting Licenses Sold Out in Ont.

TORONTO, Oct. 25. — (CP) — Hunters have been issued "nearly all" the available licenses for the first post-war pheasant-hunting season just getting under way, an official of the Ontario game and fisheries department said Wednesday.

All licenses have been issued for Pelee Island, the famed district in Lake Erie off Essex County where shooting starts Nov. 1 for two days, the spokesman said.

There are just "a few" licenses left for Limnis and Windsor counties, where shooting started yesterday and continues Oct. 26 and 27 after a halt today, the spokesman said.

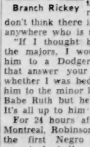
Licenses for shooting Oct. 26 to 27 in the regulated townships also were described as "pretty well sold out."

Rickey Thinks Negro Baseballer Will Make Good

By JACK HAND

NEW YORK, Oct. 25.—Branch Rickey thinks Jackie Robinson, the first Negro to crash the portals of modern organized baseball, is an "outstanding prospect" for "orientation" on the Montreal farm.

"I've never seen the boy play," admitted the Dodgers' president. "But the reports from my scouts indicate he should be able to play for Brooklyn after he's undergone seasoning. He isn't ready right now and I don't think there is a Negro player anywhere who is ready.



Branch Rickey

"If I thought he was ripe for the majors, I would have signed him to a Dodger contract. Does that answer your question as to whether I was heading on sending him to the major leagues? Hell's no Babe Ruth but he's a good hitter. It's all up to him from now on."

For 24 hours after signing with Montreal, Robinson is tagged as the first Negro ever to enter organized ball. However, Fred Bendel, veteran baseball writer of the Newark News, and Secretary Bill Manley of the International League, recalled a Negro star hurler at Newark in 1887.

Bendel said he was George Stovey who pitched for "the Little Giants" and earned 35 victories still the high water mark for the circuit.

Asked what would happen if Robinson, former UCLA grid ace, failed to make the grade in double-A ball, Rickey observed: "We will make such adjustments as meet the requirements of the club and league. He has told me he doesn't want to go any place he won't be welcome."

Baseball Commissioner Hap Chandler refused to comment on the signing of Robinson and said he would decide whether any protest from the owner of the Monarchs would be entertained when he received the protest.

The "day after" comment by baseball men and sports editors was largely favorable and Representative Adam Clayton Powell Jr. hailed the signing as "a definite step toward winning the peace."

Vic And Westglen Tie For Top Spot

A playoff for the City High School Senior Six-man football League championship resulted yesterday when Scona defaulted to Vic for the final game of the loop schedule. The tilt was to be played at the Vic grounds.

Victoria now has three victories and one loss, the same as Westglen and the playoff is hoped to be staged at Clarke Stadium some night next week. This will be announced later if it can be arranged.

Howard Mackie and Johnny Mahaffy got the others. Tom Burlington, star one-eyed centre, and Earl Bartholome nabbed the Cleveland scores.

Fourth Straight For Pittsburgh

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 25—(AP)—Exhibiting a fine passing attack and an almost air-tight defence, Pittsburgh Hornets won their fourth straight game of the American Hockey League season by walloping Cleveland Barons, 7-2, last night.

The victory strengthened the Wasps' hold on first place in the western division. A capacity crowd of 5,500 has looked on.

The defeat was a tough blow for the Barons, defending league champions, who have failed to win a game in five starts this season, having a record of three ties and two loses.

Bob Wallon and Wally Wilson led the Hornet attack with two goals each. Ken (Red) Schultz,

Today's Sport Parade

NEW YORK, Oct. 25.—(BUP)—Six days away from their first National Hockey League game, the lowly New York Rangers today had rookie-of-the-year honors signed, sealed and ready for delivery to an obstinate amateur who eluded them for seven years.

The man is Edgar (Eddie) Laprade, a stubborn 25-year-old French-Canadian from Port Arthur, Ont. A French-Irishman's gift to gab finally persuaded him to ink the long-ready contract and to hear the Blueshirts tell it, Eddie is a combination of Bill Cowley, Hans Brinker and a steel-runnered Einstein.

"I'll miss my guess if he doesn't win the Calder Cup as the outstanding rookie," elates Manager Lester Patrick. "He may not be the fastest skater in hockey but he's the brainiest to come along in a long time and he's a beautiful playmaker."

Patrick, of course, may be enthusing easily because of the past three years in which his Rangers have earned the sobriquet "Phillies" by finishing last each time. Still, there wasn't anything wrong with those attendance records and Patrick believes Laprade may be the antidote to put the Blueshirts back in the playoffs.

He owes it all to Frank Boucher, Ranger coach who played centre in one of hockey's greatest forward walls. Patrick tried vainly for seven years to sign the dark-faced Eddie and, after meeting continued failure, assigned Boucher to the job this summer. Frank, one of the most persuasive characters in French-Irish conversational history, turned the trick.

The Rangers spotted Laprade in February, 1938, while he was playing amateur hockey for the Port Arthur Bearcats. That was the year Eddie's team won the Allan Cup, symbolic of senior Simon-pure hockey honors. The Rangers immediately put Laprade on their negotiation list and every other club in the league started beating a path to the Ranger door trying to make a deal for the youngster.

But Eddie wouldn't play. His folks operated a Port Arthur hotel, and between working there and picking up a good salary as a mechanic, Laprade was more than satisfied.

Boucher won't disclose whether he used his half-share of blarney, his 50 per cent volubility or the art of hypnotism. Maybe he sold Eddie on making a name for the two little Laprade daughters. Anyhow, he steered Laprade into the fold and now everybody's happy — except possibly centres Ab Demarco and Phil Watson.

Senator's Remarks Ruled Out of Order

OTTAWA, Oct. 25.—(CP)—Senator James Murdock (L—Ontario) was declared out of order by Speaker J. H. King in the Senate yesterday when he sought to read part of an article in a magazine on the "used car racket" which connected an unnamed but "nationally known senator" with the business as a defence counsel in Montreal.

The Speaker ruled that it was not in line with the motion before the house.

The Senate also gave third reading to a bill to incorporate the Canadian Jewelers Institute, designed to raise the standards within the industry and to give better service to the public.

Western Front Film Is Coming

OTTAWA, Oct. 25.—(CP) — The Allied documentary film of victory on the western front, "The True Glory," will begin showings in Canadian theatres early in November, the defence department said today in a press release.

Showing under government sponsorship, it depicts the violence of war as it unfolded before the service-cameramen of Britain, Canada and the United States with part of the commentaries by the fighting men themselves.

Early showing will be made in all major cities, including Edmonton.

The defence headquarters release said top billing in the feature-length film goes to the private soldiers and airmen, who are seen in action on the beach head, in fierce battles of Falaise and Hoogwald and in shattered cities of the Rhine.

There are sequences of all important operations, including the opening of the port of Antwerp by amphibious Canadian operations which gained for the Canadians the nickname "Water Rats."

N.Y. Rangers to Experiment Changing Goalies Regularly

WINNIPEG, Oct. 25—(CP)—New York Rangers will make hockey history Saturday night when they institute the style of alternating two goaltenders on every second player change during their exhibition contest with St. Paul Saints, Lester Patrick announced last night.

The idea first revealed by the Ranger manager shortly after the training season opened, will involve changing netminders Chuck Rayner and Sugar Jim Henry every six minutes.

Raynor who missed the series with Chicago Black Hawks, will be given an opportunity to get into condition by playing the full 60 minutes of tonight's game against the Saints.

He was hit in the back of the head by a puck in the first day of training which combined with a bruised instep to keep him on the sidelines for last week-end's series with Hawks.

DELAYS CUT OUT

The chief purpose behind the two goalie idea is to insure against possible injury. For instance when one netminder sustains a minor cut which would take a few minutes to treat, a second goalie could be sent out and the game would continue without delay.

There have in the past been times when a goaltender's injury has necessitated his removal from the game, and Patrick well remembers an instance of this when he, as Ranger manager, had to don the pads himself. Dressing two men is one way of protecting against such an occurence.

It has been argued that there is a mental strain imposed on the two men which would keep them both from settling down to play a steady game.

NO MENTAL HAZARD

Partick, however, feels that with boys like Henry and Rayner there is no mental hazard. "The boys are pals," he said. "Their wives are friends, and both players are satisfied with the financial deal."

National Hockey League rules allow the use of more than one netminder in the player clause which states that a team may dress 14 players exclusive of goalies.

Coach Frank Boucher said Rangers might ice a full squad of 17 players for tonight's game. Neil Colville, who suffered an injured groin in the second period against Chicago Saturday night, was out for practice yesterday, and may be in shape by game time.

Dempsey Thinks Conn Will Stop Louis Next June

NEW YORK, Oct. 25.—(AP)—Jack Dempsey figures the same thing that happened to him on a rainy night in Philadelphia 19 years ago, will be sitting right in Joe Louis' lap, come next June when Joe has a date with Billy Conn.

Jack remembers what that three-year layoff did to him when he tangled with Gene Tunney the first time. And, speaking from experience, he reckons the same thing is going to happen to Joe, who hasn't thrown his high hand one for money in four years.

"The same thing that happened to me in that first fight with Tunney," the Mauler explained, "is likely to happen to Louis against Conn. Those long layoffs take it out of you.

"Now, Joe's going to try to come back after being away four years. He hasn't had a real fight since he flattened Abe Simon in March 1942. When you're away so long, it affects your legs and your arms and your reflexes.

"Of course, Conn hasn't been fighting either, so you can't say he's the same as Tunney was that night. Gene had seen a lot of action coming up to that fight. But Conn's younger than Joe, and should have most of his speed left. Yep, I figure Joe's in for a very tough time. I know how it is. I found out—the hard way."

U. of A. Newspaper Begins Activities

Journalistic-minded students met Tuesday at the first meeting of the University of Alberta's student newspaper, The Gateway. The editor-in-chief, Bill Clark, outlined paper policy to new members of the staff and offered suggestions and useful advice. Interest, originality and quality were essential factors to be considered, he said.

The editorial staff this year will be as follows: Editor-in-chief, Bill Clark; associate editor, Al Harper; news editor, Lawrie Joslin; assistant news editor, Mavis Huston; features editors, Peter Offenbacher, Colin Murray; society editor, Jane Becker, and sports editor, Murray Stewart.

Members of the business staff are: Business manager, Bill Bovar; advertising manager, Ralph Skitch; circulation manager, Will Walker; subscription manager, Helen Ireland, and casts and cuts, Hugh Kent.

The Gateway is an eight-page student newspaper published weekly throughout the university term to keep students informed on campus activities and "doings" in other universities throughout Canada.

It is expected that a one-page news "flier" will be put out in midweek to publicize short notice events of university clubs.

TSO Pop Concerts To Start Friday

Last year the Toronto Symphony orchestra inaugurated a series of eight "Pop" concerts with a potential audience of 2,800 people for each concert. This season the Pop series is being expanded to 24 concerts and instead of serving only a small and somewhat select audience in Toronto's Massey Hall the TSO Pop concerts will be heard this year by means of radio by a potential audience of around 3,000,000 people across Canada.

The opening broadcast will take place on Oct. 26 from Massey Hall under the direction of Sir Ernest MacMillan, Canada's internationally celebrated conductor. The program will feature selections from the popular classics and special arrangements of modern music. Guest artist for the opening broadcast will be Claire Gagner, brilliant Canadian soprano, who recently scored an outstanding success in the Metropolitan opera performance of Carmen.

This new broadcast of "Pop" concerts will be heard over the Trans-Canada network of the CBC every Friday night until next April 6, from 6 to 7, sponsored by The Robert Simpson Company Limited across Canada. It will bring back to the airwaves one of Canada's outstanding announcers in the person of Charles Jenning who, in spite of his heavy duties as assistant supervisor of programs for the CBC, has consented to come back to the mike with the TSO.

The Toronto Symphony orchestra has been heard for many years in its Tuesday subscription concerts but this will be the first time in the history of Canadian radio that a full hour of symphony "Pop" concerts has been broadcast from Atlantic to Pacific.

Venezuela Paper Asks Recognition De Facto Regime

CARACAS, Oct. 25.—(AP)—The ultra-conservative newspaper La Esfera appealed for immediate international recognition of the De Facto government of Venezuela as the country gradually returned to normal today after the revolution which ousted President Isaias Medina Y. Angarita.

La Esfera was a bitter opponent of the Medina regime, although it supported its predecessor, Gen. Eleazar Lopez Y. Contreras in the abruptly ended presidential campaign. At last reports, both Medina and Lopez were in custody of the revolutionary government, which has promised a swift trial on charges of graft.

Rare Instrument Bought by Varsity

The University of Alberta has obtained a valuable instrument for protein analysis, the electro-phoresis, the only one of its kind in Canada. Although the apparatus has been on order for over a year, the parts have just now been received and are being set up in a university lab. Dr. A. G. McCalla will direct use of the instrument.

Because the machine is of a highly technical nature, an advanced background in chemistry and physics is required in order to use it. Les Wetter, a U. of A. graduate of plant science in agriculture, will use it for experimental purposes and from the results obtained he will compile a thesis for his master's degree.

A series of projects on agricultural research began at the university last May to determine not only the use of crops as food, but also their use in aiding industrial development in the west.

The protein anglysis project which is about to commence has as its aim to determine the fundamental properties of plant proteins for possible future use in industrial processes.

Cruickshank of Ottawa, who said the five-man Canadian delegation he led to the federation meeting fully approved of the principle of Imperial preference in trade.

CROSSROADS

Whatever Road They Choose . . We Owe Them Our Help!

THEY'RE AT THE CROSSROADS—back from the hardships of war—changed perhaps in their outlook. Not so much older, but wiser by far. What they look forward to in Canada is freedom and opportunity. For that's what they dreamed of as they were out there on the battlefield, or zoomed into the flak over the target, or took up battle stations when the sub pack threatened.

Now they're back to seek and find that opportunity—opportunity you can help give them. A chance to complete their education, to own their own farms, their own homes, to learn trades or go into their own businesses. To pick up the threads again and start anew on the road of life.

Yes, your purchases of VICTORY BONDS help provide that chance—for the 9th Victory Loan will be largely used to finance rehabilitation. So dig down deep this time and buy more Victory Bonds than ever. And you'll not only be helping to pay the debt we owe these men and women, but helping to assure your own future by your savings.

Remember, there will only be one Victory Loan in the next 12 months—so you can buy double the amount with the same deductions from your pay envelope, extended over 12 months.

The ROAD AHEAD

by Capt. HARPER PROWSE, M.L.A.

IN SPITE of all the plans that are being made housing still remains, with employment, co-holder of the title of "Canada's Number One Problem". It is easy enough to blame people for it, but unfortunately blaming people doesn't build houses. And while building houses is the obvious way to solve the problem that isn't as easy to do as it is to say or write.

In the first place is it time that each one of us, whatever we happen to be comfortably housed at the moment or not, should do some serious, fair thinking on the subject. While I continue to urge subsidization as a solution for the problem I run into a number of people who have violent objections to it. So for the next moment or two let's look at both sides of the problem.

In the first place it is a well known fact that about four out of every five families in Canada live on an income of $2,000 per year and less—mostly less. It is also a well known fact that to build homes that come up to the minimum standards set by our building by-laws in our cities and towns it costs in excess of $1,000 per room.

BUILD SMALL HOUSES

This means, that if they are to build homes which meet the minimum standards insisted upon by regulations, most Canadians can only afford to build three or four room homes. As a matter of fact the survey carried out by the province revealed that of those contemplating building the average contemplated expenditure was approximately $3,500.

But the average family in need of a home has an average of three or more children. This means that the average family requires a home which contains a kitchen, a living room, a bedroom for the parents, a bedroom for boys and a bedroom for girls. Today most people will agree that its also requires a modern bathroom and sanitary arrangements. To build this kind of a home, even cutting expenses to the bone, will cost at least $5,000 and will probably cost a lot closer to $7,500 at the present time.

The obvious conclusion is that the average Canadian family just can't afford to live in the kind of a home that our regulations state they must live in. That leaves just three answers to the problem. Either we must revise our ideas concerning minimum requirements and let people build houses out of old boxes or what ever they choose so they can get the required number of rooms with an expenditure of between $2,000 and $4,000, or must accept overcrowding of families so that we have five people living in accommodation intended for childless couples, or we must have subsidization.

THE OTHER ANSWER

The other answer which has been suggested, which is that we should raise everybody's wages so that they can afford the kind of a home the regulations demand without overcrowding is just a beautiful dream which shows no signs whatever of coming true in time to solve our present problem.

If we are prepared to admit that as a nation we have set our sights too high, that we have educated our people to expect a standard of living that our economy cannot produce for us, that we must exchange our steam-heated bathrooms for backyard reading rooms, and substitute the oil-stove-and-hot-burner for central heating—if we accept this we can reduce building costs.

If we are content to crowd parents and children of both sexes—regardless of age—into one bedroom, if we are content to consider a one-room housekeeping suite as standard accommodation for childless couples (and there are families with children living under these conditions right now) then our problem disappears.

CAUSE OF DISEASE

But such conditions breed and spread disease of every kind, such conditions contribute to child delinquency, such conditions make normal and happy home-life impossible, such conditions foster crime, divorce and unhappiness.

This may seem like an exaggeration of the facts, but it is not. It may interest readers to know that the recent survey of housing undertaken in this province was undertaken to consider "only cases of extreme emergency." It did "not consider cases of inadequacy, overcrowding or discomfort." Just what "extreme emergency" is when it isn't concerned with "inadequacy, overcrowding or discomfort" is something I'd like to have explained.

But there is the problem. It is the nation's problem. As such it is your problem and mine. Your solution might be the one that solves it—so start thinking, and keep on thinking.

Great Wartime Rush Revealed

Traffic Handled at City Airport Probably Set Continental Record

Edmonton is believed to have set a wartime continental record for aerial traffic passing through the municipal airport, with 850 landings and takeoffs, exclusive of training planes, in a single 24-hour period.

Capt. James A. Bell, veteran manager of Edmonton's magnificent modern airport, made the revelation recently of the stupendous activity here, while reviewing a few highlights of the hectic war years.

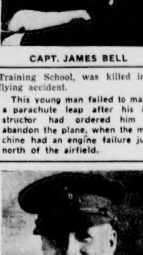
That the Edmonton airport has shattered all records for a single operating field in North America seems quite likely by a comparison with another famed airport.

LAGUARDIA RECORD

During the first two years of United States participation in the Second World War the biggest single 24-hour record for LaGuardia Field, New York City, was 360 landings and takeoffs.

Edmonton is also thought likely to possess an unequalled record for safety and freedom from fatalities during the long war period.

Only one person, a student airman, at No. 16 Elementary Flying Training School, was killed in a flying accident.



CAPT. JAMES BELL

This young man failed to make a parachute leap after his instructor had ordered him to abandon the plane, when the machine had an engine failure just north of the airfield.

There have been several minor crack-ups on takeoff and landing of aircraft during the war years, but in a majority of cases the occupants of the planes escaped with only minor injuries.

REAL STORY UNTOLD

Unfortunately from the standpoint of public interest the complete story of the great role Edmonton's airport played in the war, can never be told.

Because of security, records of all military traffic passing through airports in Canada and the United States were systematically destroyed every three months.

But Capt. Bell will never forget that great day in June 1942, when nearly 300 aircraft touched their landing wheels on the Edmonton runways and roared away north and south.

Most of the traffic was in a northwesterly direction and most of the aircraft were USAAF bombers and fighters, rushing almost frantically toward Alaska, where the Japs threatened invasion at any moment as a result of successful landings on Kiska and Attu in the Aleutian Island chain.

Rural Teachers Begin Two-Day Sessions Here

More than 550 school teachers from all the large school divisions immediately surrounding Edmonton, registered at the Masonic Temple Thursday morning as the preliminary step in their two-day convention. Registration committees for each division were busy up until the time the agenda for the convention was started.

Following the invocation, Deputy Mayor M. M. Downey extended an official welcome to the delegates on behalf of the City of Edmonton, and brought them the good wishes of citizens.

TWO CONVENTIONS

Edmonton teachers are holding a convention on the same days and speakers to the city group, from out of the province, are addressing both conventions on Thursday.

Included in the roster of out-of-town delegates are Ira C. Dilworth, Vancouver, regional representative of the CBC; Dr. H. B. King, chief inspector of schools and director of research in B.C., who will outline some of the lessons learned by educational authorities in their efforts to bring a higher standard of education to the armed forces, and Miss E. M. Coppinger, president of the Saskatchewan Teachers Federation.

Dr. G. F. McNally, deputy minister of education for Alberta will introduce the principal speakers.

On Friday morning meetings in the Masonic Temple will be held by school divisions, and each section of the meeting will be addressed by its own superintendent. They are scheduled to select their local executives before the meetings close for the luncheon recess.

In the afternoon technical subjects peculiar to their profession will be explained to groups of teachers by some of their own members, who have instituted experiments or made tests of various theories in educational science.

TO ATTEND DINNER

Some of the rural teachers are to be guests on Thursday night at a dinner being given by the Edmonton group in the Macdonald hotel, and to which all the visitors have been invited.

The convention committee is J. C. Dubetz, Radway, president; A. R. Patrick, Westlock, vice-president, and J. K. Sherbanuk, Edmonton, secretary-treasurer.

At City Crossing

Two Men Escape Death When Train Hits Truck

Two men, one of them a resident of Edmonton, had a miraculous escape from death late Wednesday afternoon when the truck in which they were riding was struck by a west-bound CNR train at the 120 avenue railway crossing near 74 street, shortly before 5 p.m.

Injured and in hospital are:

William Wanchaluk, truck driver, of 10756 96 street.

Mike Hrdak, 19-year-old passenger, of Vilna.

According to police reports, the train was operated by Bertram B. Shaw, 12109 Jasper avenue. In his crew were John Wright of 10713 112 street, fireman, and William Pilon, 12755 118 street, head-end brakeman.

TRAVELLING SLOWLY

According to eye-witnesses of the collision, both the train and truck were travelling slowly at the time of the impact. Engineer Shaw told police the train, a mixed freight heading southeast on the CNR main line, was travelling between eight and nine miles per hour.

Shaw's report to police said the shrill train whistle had been sounded and the engine bell was ringing loudly as the train approached the crossing.

Suddenly, Shaw said, a truck headed east on 120 avenue came into view from behind a building under construction on the corner of 120 avenue and 74 street. The crash of demolished machinery echoed into the autumn afternoon as the heavy freight engine plowed into the left side of the truck and carried the vehicle 237 feet southeast of the intersection.

When it came to rest, the truck was extensively damaged. The two occupants were rushed to the Royal Alexandra hospital by Jack Hays' ambulance.

Police said the truck, loaded with meat and heading for a North Edmonton packing plant at the time, is owned by Charles Congdon of Edmonton.

At the Royal Alexandra hospital Wednesday, it was indicated the two injured men were in fair condition and were expected to survive.

Federation Urged To Legalize Status

A resolution recommending that the Federation of Community Leagues legalize its status was passed at a round-table conference of league presidents held in the Civic Block Wednesday evening.

This recommendation which has been put to the various leagues for discussion and approval, means that the Federation be incorporated in the Friendly Societies Act.

Eighteen leagues were represented at the meeting and the presidents presented and discussed various ideas from their leagues. Some of the newly organized leagues gathered ideas of the best way to function in order to achieve the purpose for which they were established.

Ask Good Roads To Connect With Alaska Highway

Roads connecting with the Alaska highway must be properly built and maintained if the highway is to be of value, James A. Christiansen, chairman of the Alaska highway committee told members of the Edmonton Chamber of Commerce council meeting in the Corona hotel Wednesday.

Reporting on behalf of his committee the chairman made several recommendations which were approved, and expressed appreciation for the work done by Hon. James A. MacKinnon in connection with getting a federal decision on the 50-50 road.

ACTION APPROVED

Members approved the action taken by the governments in announcing Canada will take over the highway on April 1 and maintain it for development of the northwest as well as for military purposes.

The highway committee recommended that a road from Edmonton to Grande Prairie, by way of Whitecourt and Valleyview and west to Tupper, should be built as a standard highway at an early date, and paved at the earliest possible opportunity. It was pointed out that the road must eventually be built as the direct connection between the Peace River Block of British Columbia as well as the connecting link with the Alaska highway.

The chamber members agreed that the road through Athabasca, along Lesser Slave Lake to Peace River and Grande Prairie, should be completely gravelled and brought up to first class standards as quickly as possible, including the Sturgeon Lake cut-off from High Prairie to Grande Prairie.

ALL-WEATHER ROAD

Also they urge that the road from Grande Prairie to Tupper should be built and maintained as a first-class all weather road.

Resolutions will be sent to the provincial department of public works in connection with these recommendations and the chamber will ask the support of organizations such as the Alberta Motor Association, Alberta Farmers' Union, United Farmers of Alberta, and the Alberta Board of Trade and Agriculture.

Gainer Employees To Discuss Union

Tonight, employees of the Swift plant will meet in the Eastwood Community hall for the purpose of electing an executive for their new representation in the UPWA. It is believed the holding of a strike vote will be discussed at tonight's meeting, which will commence at 8 o'clock.

$600,000 Housing Project Permit Is Issued to City

Edmonton's building permit total was increased by $600,000 when a permit was issued to the city covering the provincial-municipal housing project under which suites are being made from huts and lumber shipped from Dawson Creek, B.C.

A permit for $15,134 was issued to the Edmonton Produce Co. Ltd., for additions to a warehouse at 10502 102 street, and to Lee F. Green, Didsbury, covering an apartment block being erected at 10902 84 avenue at a cost of $11,000.

The Inquiring Reporter

THE QUESTION

How do you feel about the newly-announced decision that the Canadian Army will in the future have control of the Alaska Highway?

THE ANSWERS

LEN HODGINS, salesman: I believe most people expected that sooner or later the highway would come under Canadian administration. I must admit, however, that learning the Canadian Army would administer it came as a bit of a surprise.

DOUG. TOMLINSON, ex-sailor: I hope its function as a military highway will not continue on a permanent basis. Properly organized and administered the highway would be a big feature in Canada's future tourist program.

BESSIE WATERS, stenographer: I was very glad to hear of it. The new plan provides a permanent occupation for a sizeable Canadian Army. Maintaining that army appears to be necessary to future peace and security.

Community Chest Fund Exceeds Goal

The 28 community organizations, which depend largely on the Community Chest for financial support, are assured that they will be able to continue their valuable efforts in behalf of the city's needy and children for another year, according to a recent release from chest headquarters.

The objective for the Community Chest drive this year was just over the $100,000 mark and $101,832 was received, according to the last audit.

The announcement of this success is made in a circular letter addressed to all those who assisted in the campaign. Over the signature of F. H. King, campaign chairman, and Harold Orr, president of the Chest, appreciation is expressed for the loyal support of the workers and of the people of Edmonton.

DOROTHY DIX SAYS—

Problem Is What to Do With Fatherless Babes

The Problem of the Illegitimate Child Is One to Which There Is No Happy Solution Because So Many Factors Enter Into It

The problem of the illegitimate child is one to which there is no happy solution because so many different factors enter into it and every one of them ends in a heartbreak.

Of course, human nature being what it is, we have always had the illegitimate child with us. Heretofore he has been a comparatively rare figure in our midst, but the war has changed all of that. The irresponsibility of soldiers about to start for the front and the laxness in morals among girls whose mothers have permitted them to roam the streets, has resulted in the bringing into the world of vast numbers of fatherless babies. And the question of what to do with these helpless little creatures is one of the vital issues of the times.

So far there are two schools of thought on the subject. One contends that for the mother to keep the baby will have a restraining influence upon her. No doubt this is true in some cases, but just as often it works the other way around, and the child's need drives the mother into getting money by what is euphoniously called the easiest way.

UNTRAINED FOR WORK

The great majority of unwed mothers are girls without training in any line of work, and it is impossible for them to support a baby and themselves on their meager wages. Even when they have help from organized charity, it is hard going for them, for children are expensive luxuries and also practically all landladies are allergic to them. Moreover, when you reflect that these mothers are mere girls, eager for dates and fun, you can see that the value of a baby as a moral stabilizer is doubtful.

Many believe that a mother's love will compensate a child for being branded as illegitimate, but I get no more pathetic letters than those from men and women who tell how their childhood was made bitter by their being known as "Miss Sally's Bastard" or "Mamie" and their being taunted by their schoolmates with having no father.

Another school of thought holds that adoption is the best solution of the illegitimate child problem, and much is to be said in favor of this. Most important is the fact that it practically wipes out the stain of illegitimacy because the child takes on its foster parent's name and social status. Next is that the child with foster parents generally has better educational advantages than his unwed mother could have given him.

Of course, the objection to adoption is that the mother is separated from her child, and often that is a tragedy to the mother whatever advantage it may be to the child. But it is not to be denied that the great majority of unmarried mothers are more relieved than grieved by knowing that their unwanted babies have found a good home. Also, there is the possibility of a child being ill-treated, but what with governmental supervision over this phase of the question, and the fact that few people adopt babies unless they are driven to it by the love of children and the longing to hear the patter of little feet in their homes, this danger becomes negligible.

Statistics show that never before were there so many illegitimate children being born, and what to do with these unfortunate little creatures, and how to fit them for the world of tomorrow in which they will play so important a part, is one of the big problems of our time. And one of its greatest headaches.

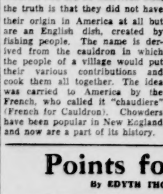
Debunker



Although most people believe that chowders were originated in America and are an American dish, the truth is that they did not have their origin in America at all but are an English dish, created by fishing people. The name is derived from the cauldron in which the people of a village would put their various contributions and cook them all together. The idea was carried to America by the French, who called it "chaudiere" (French for Cauldron). Chowders have been popular in New England and now are a part of its history.

Points for Parents

By EDYTH THOMAS WALLACE

Mother: "I've studied the advertisements and made a list of everything we have to buy so my shopping trip with Bettie will not be a long one."

Mother: "Stop your teasing to go home! I have to look around in two more stores before I make up my mind for sure about what I want to buy."

When making up one's mind is a lengthy procedure, it should not be engaged in while dragging a small child through crowded stores.

Your Baby and Mine

By MYRTLE MEYER ELDRED

Of all the behavior that defeats the parent, refusal to eat is one of the foremost. She feels helpless and infuriated when she prepares three good meals and the child leaves all or part of each one, demands to be amused or fed, holds food in his mouth and won't chew and swallow it.

Here are some of the foremost reasons why children have no appetite for regular meals. Too much food, not at meals but between meals when they eat handfuls of cookies, candy bars, crackers, drinks of milk and so get enough nourishment to make food on the table go begging.

Too much milk, or too rich milk. After infancy the child who drinks quantities of milk seldom wants to eat. Try skimmed milk or no milk until the appetite returns and then keep the milk to one cup after meals.

Too little food. A long experience with scanty, unbalanced meals shrinks the child's stomach and makes even a little food satisfying to him.

Too many sweet foods. Concentrated nourishment in the form of candy and rich desserts satisfy the child's hunger cravings. It's pretty obvious what to do about this.

Fatigue. Children have no judgment about exercise and run and run until ready to drop. A rest before each meal, a long nap and early bedtime should do the trick for them.

Infected tonsils, decayed teeth, enlarged adenoids, coming colds or other illnesses may be responsible temporarily for depriving a child of appetite. What the mother does to force food at that time may be the beginning of chronic appetitelessness or finicky eating behavior.

All children, even the well and hearty ones, have temporary spells when food is distasteful. Respect that emotion. The child who finds he can eat, or not eat, can dislike some foods and be given all he wants of the well-liked ones, develops no sense that eating is important to anyone but himself.

If he has three meals of foods balanced for good nutrition his appetitelessness will be short-lived and his appetite will rise eventually to meet his needs.

Our leaflet No. 26, "Diet from One to Two Years," may be had by sending a stamped, self-addressed envelope with this request to Myrtle Meyer Eldred in care of this newspaper.

Knights Columbus Elect New Leader

PLATTSBURGH, N.Y., Oct. 25.—(AP)—The supreme council, Knights of Columbus, meeting here instead of in Montreal because of a wartime convention rule still in force there last night elected Judge John E. Swift, Boston, Mass., Supreme Knight. Judge Swift succeeds Francis P. Matthews of Omaha, Neb.

Minute Make-Ups

A softly draped neckline is unbelievably flattering! If you want to "dress up" in a hurry, drape a soft pink or white chiffon handkerchief at the neckline of your suit, jacket or even your low-cut black dress. Drape a pink or white jersey turban on your head. Wear a huge pin right in front. Match your scarf and turban to your well chosen makeup.

Elizabeth Woodward Says . . .

DOES THE GANG HANG OUT ON YOUR DOORSTEP?

"Let's go over to your house," is about the nicest compliment you can get. It means the crowd finds welcome on your mat. There's fun to be had. Your family is swell and cordial, but they do the necessary vanishing too. There's always something doing—and something to eat. It means you know how to see that your friends have fun. And they have it.

A gang's hangout doesn't just happen. The family's the first problem. They live there and have some rights. But most parents go all out. Even without a basement game room, fathers read through din and mothers knit in the kitchen. Of course, they'll lay down rules and you'll be wise if you see they're kept. A curfew's no disgrace. The gang doesn't think any less of a gal who says, "That'll be all, Mom'n Pop need their beauty sleep." In fact, after a few times, the leaving hour will be a habit. You won't have to say a word. After all, the gang wants to come again another day. Probably tomorrow!

YOU BE STAGE MANAGER

Part of your allowance will be popularity-invested if you have a well-stocked game room. Everybody will dance till the radio gives out only speeches, and that's where the shelf comes in. Chess and Chinese Checkers, Michigan and Monopoly, pencils and paper for guggenheim, and miniature horses for racing. Sam will go into solitary with puzzle-peg and everyone will turn designer in a hat-making contest from odds and ends. There are dozens of games that need no props, so tuck them back of your bangs. When talk hangs heavy you can put your guests through their paces at tricks and stunts. There's no point in letting deadly silence and gasping yawns spoil your party. Not when it's so easy to keep your guests on their toes.

Your friends don't need feed every time they call. But a section of the pantry shelf for your hungry gang is a good idea. A carrier of pop, a tin of pretzels, crackers, peanut-butter and jam, sandwich makings, pickles and onions. She gals and guys aren't looking for a meal. Light refreshments are what they want.

Entertaining at home is where it should be done. It gives your parents a chance to like your friends. They'd like the chance. There won't be any starch in their necks when Sam dates you. They know Sam and think he's fine. And, like as not, Sam's dating you because you're the best fun he's had. And when you get home, like as not, Rich and Jimmie and Bob'll be perched on the front porch talking to your father and mother. After all, you're all friends. What gal could ask for anything more?

Impressive Naturalization Ceremonies Being Planned

By P. W. DEMPSON
Edmonton Bulletin Ottawa Bureau

OTTAWA, Oct. 25.—Under Canada's new citizenship act which is now before parliament, the holding of impressive ceremonies in the courts and outside will play an important part when a person becomes a naturalized Canadian. The purpose of this is to stress upon applicants the responsibilities and privileges of Canadian citizenship.

State secretary Paul Martin, who introduced the citizenship bill, said that in the past not sufficient attention to this matter has been paid. People have become naturalized, in many cases, without having any real consciousness of the fact that they were taking a very significant step. Many of them to this day have not a true understanding of what Canadian citizenship means.

"We should follow the pattern set for us by the United States in this respect," he said. "When naturalization proceedings are conducted in many of their cities, a public holiday is sometimes called. After a group become naturalized Americans, they are guests of honor at a public reception which is usually linked with a sports day or some other celebration or entertainment."

LONG REMEMBERED

People becoming Americans remember the event as long as they live, and it is a proud day for them. "We want our new Canadians to feel the same way," he said.

Apart from the purely legal consequences of acquiring a new citizenship, in a democracy there are great obligations and responsibilities placed upon a citizen. These should be carefully explained to the people who become Canadians. They must be fully impressed with the ceremony and the step they are taking.

"They should also be given some understanding of how government in Canada works," he said, and of the great traditions of constitutional liberty and justice that are the root and source of industrial liberty.

Mr. Martin said Canadians are too apt to take these things for granted—even after a war that has shown that they must be "cherished and fought for bitterly if they are to be preserved."

He stressed that care should be taken that every new citizen becomes a "doughty champion of the democratic way of life."

New Disorders Are Reported In Indo-China

SAIGON, Oct. 25.—(AP)—One French soldier was killed and another wounded in a hand grenade attack on a French 2nd armored division jeep column which was returning personnel from Saigon to a barracks in nearby Cholon Tuesday.

A Japanese-style hand grenade thrown by terrorists inflicted the casualties.

Other disturbances which continued throughout the day in Cholon resulted in seizure of a dozen Annamese Nationalists and a Japanese officer who had disguised himself in the customary Annamese civilian costume of short and a shirt. He was the fourth Japanese officer to be taken under similar circumstances in the past few days.

Musicians Retard Radio Development

NEW YORK, Oct. 25.—(AP)—A National Broadcasting Company official said yesterday that the American Federation of Musicians (AFL) order that a double set of musicians must be employed when regular radio programs are duplicated over a frequency modulation station was "impeding the progress of FM."

Easton C. Woolley, director of the NBC stations departments, said the effect of the order by James C. Petrillo, union president, would be to end "the duplication of our AM (standard band) programs containing music on our FM transmitters" effective Monday.

Mr. Petrillo's order requires employment of a double crew of musicians whenever regular and FM programs are duplicated.

The order, Mr. Woolley said, would prohibit the carrying out of our previously announced policy of permitting complete duplication by NBC affiliates of our AM network service on their FM transmitters."

WASHINGTON, Oct. 25.—(AP)—The United Nations world security organization became a fact yesterday when State Secretary Byrnes signed a protocol of deposit of ratifications.

The signing followed the deposit of ratification documents earlier in the day by Poland, the Ukrainian and White Russian Republics, and the Soviet Union.

Canada has not yet completed formal ratification of the charter although the measure already has been approved by unanimous vote of the House of Commons. Remaining legislative steps are expected shortly.

Britain to Borrow If to Meet Deficit

LONDON, Oct. 25.—(AP)—Britain must borrow a sum almost equalling 10 per cent of her national debt if she is to meet the deficit the Labor government predicts for the fiscal year beginning April 1, 1946.

With a national debt of £23,708,000,000 ($104,475,600,000) the United Kingdom must borrow another £2,300,000,000 to meet the deficit forecast by the chancellor of the exchequer, Hugh Dalton.

Expenditures for the next fiscal year Mr. Dalton estimated at £5,565,000,000 and revenues at £3,265,000,000.

A large part of the national debt is made up of obligations to be met on specific date. A possibility that their cost to the government may be reduced by refunding is seen, however, in Mr. Dalton's budget message to parliament.

Britain financed a large part of her war costs by creating short-term bonds and floating debt.

De Gaulle Coalition Government Likely

Exclusive to The Edmonton Bulletin

PARIS, Oct. 25.—(AFP)—Prospects for a new coalition government under President Gen. Charles de Gaulle appeared brighter today.

The steering committee of the Socialist party, one of the "Big Three" winners of the French assembly elections last Sunday, announced last night that it was willing to collaborate with "all th Republicans" in reconstructing France, 142 each.

This was taken as an indication that the Socialists would cooperate with the Communist and popular Republican parties in forming a new government. The Communists won 152 seats in the election and the other two parties, 142 each.

It had been feared that the Socialists might refuse to work with the Communists and instead seek to enlist the aid of other parties in an anti-Communist front.

Doormats Latest Loot

Edmonton's "thieving fraternity" have chalked up another "screwball" item in their varied collection of articles stolen from all parts of the city in recent weeks.

The latest loot is three doormats, two of them the coconut fibre type, and the third an ordinary rubber mat.

The mats were taken from the home of Hans Bodker, 10618 96 avenue, sometime during the past week, according to police reports.

A fourth mat might have been taken too, except that it was secured to a flight of hall stairs by two sturdy stair rods. An attempt had been made to remove these stair rods, Mr. Bodker said, but apparently the attempt was unsuccessful.

Legion Secretary-Manager Becomes a "Cub Reporter"

W. J. "BILL" WILLIAMS

W. J. "Bill" Williams, M.L.A. the hardworking secretary-manager of Edmonton Canadian Legion Branch No. 1, has taken on another job. He's a cub reporter now.

The local Legion branch has gone into the publishing business and will issue an eight-page monthly paper for the membership.

Every newspaper has to have reporters and because "Bill" has all the inside "dope" on things both domestic and unorthodox he has been honored by appointment as official staff reporter on the sheet.

With deadline for the first issue only a few days away "Bill" is putting his spreadwalking potentialities to the first big test.

The first issue of "The Legion News" will be out early in November.

The paper will at first consist of eight pages and will carry news of particular interest to returned war veterans.

Although it will carry paid advertising, the paper will be distributed free of charge to branch members. The present strength of the branch is 3,600. The newspaper will take the place of the monthly news letter mailed to the membership.

A permanent editor has not yet been named. A. E. Nightingale has charge of gathering material and editing the first issue.

MP's Criticize Use Of British Troops To Battle Natives

Exclusive to The Edmonton Bulletin

LONDON, Oct. 25. — (BUP) — Sixty Labor members of parliament issued a statement last night criticizing the use of British troops to reinforce police during recent disturbances in Indonesia and French rule in Indo-China.

"Bloodshed and disorder," they said, "compel us to face vast changes resulting from the war in the Far East. Our people have been involved in military operations against the people and have used Japanese troops to maintain order."

They contended that the Indonesian and Annamite independence movements "stand for a cause popular forces of national liberation and progress."

City Airport

and Curtiss P-40's swooped down on the field in regular swarms.

So concerned were the military authorities at that time that all the big fields along the U.S. west coast from San Diego to Portland were stripped again of combat and transport aircraft.

RUNWAYS INADEQUATE

And at one time the runways at the Edmonton airport, more than adequate to handle all types of commercial aircraft, were almost useless for the huge, heavily-loaded B-17 and B-24s. Even the P-38 fighters sank down in the shallow-surfaced asphalt, often to the wheel hubs if the sun happened to be hot.

"Yet we got every single airplane away on schedule," Capt. Bell proudly recalls.

"And now we have the finest runways there are, capable of handling the heaviest aircraft on earth," he added.

Capt. Bell also revealed that at times there would be aircraft parked in every available square foot of space along concrete ramps and on the grassy infield.

Those occasions were when the weather would suddenly go bad in the north and prevent takeoffs from Edmonton. The congestion here would be aggravated further by the arrival at regular intervals of fresh swarms of aircraft bound for Alaska.

TRAFFIC WAS HANDLED

But the Edmonton Municipal Airport staff handled the traffic without any serious jams.

There's another highlight that Capt. Bell will always remember. That was the great blizzard of Nov. 15, 1942.

Edmonton and all Alberta was practically buried under an unprecedented fall of snow, with wind piling the snow in mountainous drifts in every cleared space.

The Edmonton airport was really a mess.

Capt. Bell recalled that trying ordeal briefly.

"Our crew, along with the Americans, worked 48 hours without stopping to keep the runways clear. With the snow-removing equipment we estimate that one quarter of a million cubic feet of snow was removed in that period. In addition, we even blew open a road to Kingsway when the airport was threatened with isolation from the outside."

Capt. Bell is warm in his praise of the officers and men of the US AAF who worked along with airport officials and staffs in those stirring, trying days.

COLONEL PITCHED IN

He recalled Lt.-Col. Theodore Bolan, original commanding officer at the USAAF here, toiling with zest up to his hips alongside of G.I.'s to keep aircraft rolling in wet weather.

"They were a great bunch all through the war. One could ask for better co-operation than they gave us," the airport manager said. G.I's actually slept in the big transport commercial hangers and boiler rooms.

It should also be remembered that for about three years there were about 60 aircraft at No. 2 AOS in almost continuous round-the-clock operational training airmen. Previous to that there were additional aircraft from No. 16 Elementary Flying Training School of the RCAF, later moved to Penhold.

Capt. Bell points with pride to the fact that the runways at the Edmonton Municipal were twice completely resurfaced during the war without any interruption in the flow of aircraft to the fighting fronts. There was an addition traffic of TCA and CP Air Lines, regular commercial operators.

"There was no labor trouble, no scrapt between military and civilian operators or friction to mention of any kind. We could point with pride to our conferences that when a railroad undertakes repairs or laying of new track there is never any interruption of traffic. An airport should be the same," Capt. Bell said.

MUST HAVE SHELTER

An airport is unique in one respect. While water does not halt traffic in the air, planes must always be able to seek shelter at airports. For that reason when weather is worst for flying that is the time that runways must be ready to receive the "birds" seeking shelter.

All airport personnel are on 24-hour call and will willingly work through days and nights when a storm hits.

Airport general foreman, Harry Allen, chief of maintenance, makes a daily check at the meteorological station at 4 p.m. if there's rough weather coming he warns his staff to be on call next for a call. The snow must be tackled before it gets over two inches deep on the runways or serious drifting is apt to result.

Jimmy Murdoch, now a flying officer in the RCAF, Northwest Air Command, was control tower chief at the airport most of the war. With a hard-working crew of six, these men kept the traffic moving toward the northwest.

ANOTHER GREAT RUSH

When lend-lease to Russia started rolling in high gear, another great rush of aircraft had to pass through Edmonton airport daily. Toward the latter days of the war the new Namao airport relieved some of the pressure.

Nearly every type of military aircraft in use during the war have landed at Edmonton airport, ranging all the way from B-29 Superforts, to the Bell jet propelled job.

There have been Fortresses, Liberators, fighters of all kinds of the USAAF, British Lancasters, Halifaxes and Mosquitos.

Lt.-Col. Joseph W. Westover, a former northland bush pilot, now in command of search and rescue for the USAAF here, comes in for warm praise from Capt. Bell.

Lt.-Col. Westover was in charge of general administration for the Visitor to City Notices Changes Of Forty Years

"It is 40 years since I last saw Edmonton, and the changes are even greater than expected in spite of all the allowances I had made," stated Col. J. J. Carrick, Toronto visitor who arrived in the city from Yellowknife, where he has business interests.

He recalled his first visit to Edmonton in 1905.

Col. Carrick

"We arrived in Edmonton on a car," he said with a smile "one of the first to arrive in Edmonton. I was a twenty-one year old rambler engine under the chassis and propelled with old-fashioned chain drive."

His travelling companions were Frank Marriaggi of Winnipeg, and his brother Anthony Marriaggi, mayor of Ajaccio, Corsica, who was visiting his brother Frank in Canada. The car had been shipped by freight from Port Arthur, the colonel's home in 1905, to Calgary. It was the first car to be driven from Port Arthur to Fort William, and the first to make the trip from Calgary to Edmonton over the prairie trail. Four fractions of prairie grass and the chain drive at one point started a fire and all hands had to throw dirt on the blaze to put it out.

TRAVELLERS GET LOST

About half the distance was completed when the travellers came to a fork in the trail and got lost in the falling dusk. They camped for the night and with the next morning's sun discovered their direction and again in a few hours later they entered Edmonton.

Frank Marriaggi, who had previously lived in Fort Saskatchewan, knew many residents and in no time there was a social gathering underway.

At the conclusion of a ten-day visit the decision was made to return to Port Author but by that time situation had arisen. Everyone in Edmonton by then had had a ride in the Rambler and the future of the car seems refused to let the car go away.

"You are not going to take the Rambler out of Edmonton, John," said Col. Carrick, "I will give you a cheque for what you paid for it."

"Sold to you," said the colonel after a brief session over the Canadian Pacific Railway.

Col. Carrick was MP for Port Arthur and Fort William in 1911. During the first year of the First War he was appointed as staff officer at Corps Headquarters in France. Two of his sons served in the Second Great War, one being killed in action. He attended the San Francisco conference as a representative of the press.

Lauritz Melchior Sings For Troops At Suffield Camp

Exclusive to The Edmonton Bulletin

SUFFIELD, Alta., Oct. 25—(BUP)—Lauritz Melchior, internationally-known opera star, wound up his hunting earlier than expected yesterday, changed from leather sports breeches to a tweed suit and motored to Suffield to sing for the servicemen and women at the army's experimental station here.

The portly singer has been in the area since the past week on a hunting trip. Mr. Melchior and his party will leave the Tilley district late today and will return to Calgary.

American forces here during the big rush north.

"He understood the north and its problems and he was a great help to us all. It was really an interesting show," concluded Capt. Bell, who flew a bomber in the First Great War. He has been in charge of the Edmonton airport since 1927.

These quotations are on loose eggs. Sales in one-dozen cartons are 2c extra.

A feature of this egg market is the development of further strength, with advance in values for all grades ranging from two to seven cents per dozen. Advances also occurred in prices wholesale to retail and retail to consumer, both of which have reached ceiling levels. Egg receipts through all registered egg grading stations show an increase of 4 per cent. from the previous week, but this is not believed to represent an upsweep in production but marketing of some held stocks from the previous week. The percentage grade A for all stations is reported as 77.5 per cent., compared to 74 per cent. for the previous week. Local retail demand continues good. Two carlots of mixed grades were shipped from here to Winnipeg, and one carlot of mixed grades to Montreal. Deliveries to local army camps were on a heavier basis than the previous week.

The poultry market increased in activity over the previous week as receipts of chicken throughout the province showed an increase of 24.6 per cent. and receipts of fowl showed an increase of 19.8 per cent. over the previous week. Two straight carlots of fowl and one straight carlot of chicken were shipped to Vancouver during the week and local retail demand is heavy, especially for chicken. Prices remain unchanged throughout and the tone of the market continues steady.
